Record cold wave

Record-breaking cold weather gripped the Quad-Cities today but most facets of normal activity continued. Residents and workers sought to meet head-on the challenges of one of the severest winters in memory.

The temperature dropped to 13 degrees below zero at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, with a wind-chill index of 54 degrees below. Rising to a high of only four degrees below zero yesterday, the thermometer plummeted shortly before midnight last night to 14 degrees below, with a wind chill of minus-44.

With a cloud deck moving in, a slight warming trend developed during the night. It was 12 below at 3 a.m. and still a record-shattering and teeth-chattering ten degrees below zero as students and employees left for schools, industries and offices this morning.

There has been snow on the ground continuously since Dec. 29, and the weather has been below-freezing since Dec. 28. Quad-Cities and weather authorities cannot recall a similarly long and intense siege of bitter cold since the winter of 1959-60.

Several barge sinkings have caused the Mississippi River to be closed between Chester and Cairo, Ill., pending determination of whether there are obstructions in the main navigation channel.

A tow pushed by the towboat Mariner, operated by Union Stevedoring Corp. of Pittsburgh, hit an ice jam near Chester on Thursday and broke apart. One barge sank outside the channel, nine went aground and one broke free.

The Army Corps of Engineers said two grain barges also have sunk in that area.

The Government-Industry River Advisory Committee composed of the U.S. Army Engineer St. Louis District, U.S. Coast Guard 2nd District and industry representatives, having reviewed ice and low water conditions between St. Louis and Cairo, where

At least the steelworker campaign is 'heating up'

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

"I welcome George Meany's endorsement of Lloyd McBride for president of the United Steelworkers of America. If he had endorsed me, I would begin to wonder what I stood for and what this campaign is all about," Ed Sadowski, an outspoken candidate for Steelworkers president, told a labor rally Thursday night in Madison.

Sadowski, 36, described Meany, the 84-year-old president of the AFL-CIO, as a man who "hasn't worked a day in the last half-century in a factory, mill or plant and who can't relate to the rest of us."

Speaking to a gathering of about 250 steelworkers at the Polish Hall, Sadowski also criticized L. W. Abel, retiring president of the Steelworkers, saying, "Abel feels he can hand-pick his successor and hand him to us."

"I did not go to Abel and ask to be appointed. I think the Steelworkers should select their leaders, not Abel," He opposes McBride, director of the local district, for the top Steelworkers office.

He said the basic reason he is running is "to give each and every Steelworker member the right to vote on his contracts, rather than allowing districts to ratify contracts for the members."

"That is the basis of this campaign. I put my faith in the people to make decisions. When they make mistakes, they change things readily," Sadowski contended there has been a smear campaign against him, painting him and some on his slate as radicals who are accepting campaign contributions from steel companies and other non-union sources.

"We have never been Communists. We are not going to be Communists. We are not subversives. We are not radicals. We are not revolutionists. We are unionists and we feel the Steelworkers union can be a viable, progressive, aggressive organization," he said. "McBride contended we were taking money from employers. The federal law is very specific about that. He chose not to file any court action, but to get some political hay by misleading the public."

He said 80 per cent of his campaign is paid for "from the ranks of the steelworkers."

He reported that his campaign has raised $150,000 and he has spent, thus far, $207,000. "We are now about $57,000 in the hole, so we cannot afford the lavish kind of offices the McBride camp can," the candidate said.

He alleged McBride's campaign staff has sought $500 from staff workers in the union, $750 from assistant department heads, $1,000 from department heads and right on through the pay scale.

Steelworkers at the rally here contributed $499 to Sadowski's campaign Thursday night, a campaign spokesman said later.

Sadowski took issue with a leaflet called "message from the gutter," which he alleged was distributed to steelworkers by opposition workers and which said Sadowski used "a recent paragraphic publication" for his campaign. Sadowski said the leaflet obviously refers to an interview he did with a magazine. He said it apparently objects to his interview being on one page "with naked women on other pages."

"That should show you how long it has been since McBride has been in a plant locker room and watched as the men open their lockers with the pictures inside," he remarked.

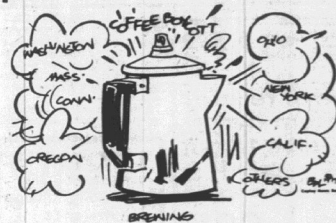

Sadowski commented he had no objections to the way Pen-house handled an article but said news articles which summarized it were a "complete distortion" of what he said.

He accused opposing campaigners of preparing summaries of the articles—summaries which he said "were clearly done. I have to tip my hat to them."

One summary contended Sadowski said he was out to eliminate 300,000 basic steelworker jobs, Sadowski said Thursday night. "I am not out to eliminate

Tax 'circuit breaker' time

The Belleville Area College Retired Senior Volunteer Program staff is reminding senior citizens and disabled persons that they may now file their "circuit breaker" tax relief forms. Assistance is available at the RSVF Office located in the Tri-City YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City.

The sales tax and property tax relief are designed to assist aging or disabled persons of limited income, according to

Mrs. Norma Mendoza, assistant director, who said a senior citizen or disabled person could be eligible for a cash refund from the state of Illinois if:

1. "You or your spouse are 65 years of age or older as of Jan. 1 following the year claimed. You are a surviving spouse not age 65, the age requirement is also met if your deceased spouse died during 1976 and would have been age 65 or older

114-cell jail plan

Utilizing a Madison County bond issue, and without previously hoped-for federal funds, the County Board soon may be in a position to proceed with construction of a new jail, the board's Buildings Committee said Friday.

A 114-cell one-story jail is estimated to cost about $3,600,000.

Revised designs for the facility were presented to the committee Friday by Architect Henry Gabriel of Granite City. The revision is subject to the approval of the Illinois Department of Corrections. The initial jail plan called for 126 prisoner cells.

While the new proposal is reduced by 12 cells to the 114 total, more could be added by constructing an additional wing in the future, it was noted.

Replacing a jail that is more than a century old, the new facility is to be located in downtown Edwardsville near the present jail and courthouse. The cost-cutting changes reduce the size of the administrative area, eliminate most of the basement and omit 58 parking spaces and quarters for the sheriff.

Omission of the three-room sheriff's section is seen as saving $150,000.

If there is opposition from the state, it may involve the exercise area. Trimming of the basement from 70,000 to 5,000 square feet eliminates proposed interior exercise space for jail inmates. Instead, two outdoor exercise yards are proposed, one for men and one for women.

Bids received in May for construction of the jail exceeded $6 million. The federal government decided this winter to send Economic Development funds elsewhere.

It is planned that each cell will hold one prisoner. The new design totals 49,222 square feet, compared to 113,000 in the first proposal.

The two-year building project perhaps could be started this summer after spring bidding, committee members said.

Site preparation bids may be requested through a resolution to be considered by the County Board on Wednesday.

Omissions include maximum security cells, an auto service garage, a communications room and gun range.

Reduced space is being allocated for a lobby, booking area and control room.

Electric heating is planned. The revised design continues to include a chapel and an infirmary.

Icy road is blamed for deputy's death

Madison County Sheriff's Deputy James R. Abel, 26, of 722 E. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell, died as the result of injuries sustained accidentally Dec. 30, a coroner's jury ruled in Granite City Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Abel was injured fatally when his squad car, responding to a call for assistance at an accident, went out of control on West Chain of Rocks Road near Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park on icy pavement and struck a utility pole broadside.

His squad car caught on fire moments later and was 75 per cent destroyed by fire before it could be extinguished by the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department and Mr. Abel's body could be removed from the wreckage, Madison County Deputy Coroner David Partney, who conducted the inquest, expressed his feeling that Mr. Abel had died as a result of the impact with the utility pole, and not from the fire.

There were two witnesses at the inquest, including Trooper Paul Dutton of the Illinois State Police who investigated the accident, and Lieutenant Jack Ladd of the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

What you see ought to be what you get

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs

Remember that one-liner from TV a few years ago? "What you see is what you get."

Too often, however, what you think you see is not what you get. Because advertising familiarizes us with brand names and package designs of a multitude of products, we don't always read labels.

We simply pick up packages that look like the ones pictured in ads or on television. Some unscrupulous companies take advantage of consumers by putting their lower quality products into packages that look like the brand name packages.

A prime example of look-alike packaging that cheats consumers is the sale of blank audio tapes for cassette and cartridge players.

These look-alike tape products are usually not of the best quality.

Drug arrests

More than 50 persons were arrested in Madison County, including 10 in the Quad-City area, in a coordinated series of arrests beginning shortly after 8 a.m. today.

Police and authorities from 10 agencies met in a 4 a.m. briefings in three locations: Granite City, Alton and Edwardsville—and the arrests began when the briefings ended.

Teams of officers went to the homes of those arrested and served them with bench warrants issued after a Madison County grand jury issued suppressed indictments against them Thursday afternoon.

A total of 65 suppressed indictments was issued by the grand jury, according to Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, whose office presented the cases to the grand jury.

Evidence used in obtaining the indictments was gathered by undercover agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEG) during several months of investigation, Byron said.

Officers involved in the arrests were from MEG, the Illinois Bureau of Investigation, the Madison County Sheriff's Department, and the police departments of Granite City, Pontiac Beach, Madison, Venice, Wood River, Alton and East Alton.

Most of those arrested were from the Alton area, where an

Concert, reception at SIUE for women leaders

Kristin Lems, widely-known folk singer, composer and leader in the feminist movement, will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Meridian Hall of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Before her performance, the East Bank Players of Granite City will present a dramatic reading of the play, "200 Years," written by Shirley Long with the assistance of Jeanne Keefe, Sue Zerler and Betty Maloney of the Edwardsville Area League of Women Voters.

Tickets for both the concert and play are $3 and $1.50 for SIUE students. Proceeds will be donated to the Illinois State NOW (National Organization of Women)-ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) Committee.

The events are being sponsored by Metro-East NOW Chapter and the SIUE University Center Board Performing Arts Committee. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the UCB office at SIUE, 1-602-2817.

From 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, a reception is planned in the Centennial Room of the SIUE University Center, honoring several Madison County women for their contribution to the women's movement.

The reception, concert and play are being presented as part of Alice Paul Week activities.

Miss Paul, who will celebrate her 82nd birthday Tuesday, now lives in a Ridgefield, Conn. nursing home. She is the author of the Equal Rights Amendment which was introduced in the U.S. Congress in 1923 and re-introduced each session thereafter until its passage in 1972.

Miss Paul still is vitally interested in her long-standing dream of ratification of the ERA as the 27th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, despite her advancing age.

She was intensely active in the struggle to secure women's right to vote, and was a leader in the suffrage movements in both England and America in the early 1900's.

The "Alice Paul Women's Achievement Award," inscribed with the names of area women being honored Tuesday, will be presented to the head of Women's Studies at SIUE.

Certificates also will be given to each woman honored during the ceremony. Norma Mendoza of Granite City, Metro-East NOW president, will serve as emcee.

A photographic display, entitled "Forgotten Women in Illinois History," is being exhibited on the second floor of the SIUE University Center through Feb. 4.

Purpose of the exhibit is "to highlight and celebrate the important history of women in Illinois and to give the state's citizens an opportunity to learn about that history." Mindy McNichols, program advisor to the University Center Board, explained.

The photographs feature pioneer women on Illinois farms, working in factories and mines, women artists and women who were active in various civic and social service organizations.

To acknowledge the contributions of Miss Paul and commemorate her birthday, the mayors of the Quad-Cities have proclaimed the week of Jan. 11 to Jan. 18, 1977, as "Alice Paul Week" in this area.

Similar celebrations are being held throughout the United States, Mrs. Mendoza said.

Caution on water sources

The Illinois Department of Public Health has cautioned citizens who are hauling water to supplement inadequate private water sources.

Because of the severe drought, as many as 60 to 75 per cent of the farmers in some counties are having to haul water. Their wells or ponds are unable to supply water for both household and livestock requirements on a daily basis.

Dr. Joyce C. Lashof, director of public health, said, "Caution should be observed to assure that any alternate water is obtained from a safe source, such as a municipal water supply, and not directly from an untreated source such as a lake or river."

Untreated sources may carry disease organisms—such as those which cause typhoid fever, cholera or dysentery, she said. Water for household use and consumption should only be obtained from a source which has been approved by appropriate local or state agencies, Dr. Lashof explained; this approval involves inspection and laboratory examination to assure that the water is safe.

"Precautions should also be taken to assure that the water is not contaminated during hauling or storage. Equipment used should be thoroughly disinfected prior to use and should not have been used for any other purpose than handling of water or food products, such as milk and beverages," she related.

"Appropriate levels of disinfectant, preferably of chlorine or iodine, should be maintained in the water at all times to reduce the chance of contamination which could result in illness to consumers."

"All persons needing to obtain water from alternate sources should contact their city or county health department or a regional office of the Illinois Department of Public Health for assistance in determining proper procedures for hauling or storing water."

"Lack of adequate supplies from our usual sources can result in serious disease. A little care can help us safely through this drought without serious health consequences."

Area post offices to join in mail processing program

The Granite City, Madison and Venice post offices will become part of the Area Mail Processing Program of the U.S. Postal Service on a phased-in basis beginning Feb. 12, it was announced today by Postmasters Herbert Backs of Granite City, William Clinton of Madison and William Singleton of Venice.

"This modern mail-processing program, which began on a national basis in 1970, is intended to gain maximum efficiency through the use of the mechanized "AMP" facility at St. Louis, Backs said.

"The St. Louis postal facility will now handle processing functions for a total of 251 area post offices, including our offices," he added.

"The AMP" is a plan whereby mail originating at post offices within a given area is consolidated for processing at a major nearby facility, including complete preparation of mail for outgoing dispatch.

This centralized processing of mail for a wide area is more efficient and helps to maintain the quality of service, they said. However, provisions are made for continuance of the local postmark in all areas of offices.

All mail deposited in a receptacle at the post office is designated for the deposit of mail for local postmark only, will be cancelled with the postmark of the local post office.

All mail deposited into (other) street letter boxes not designated for local delivery, or into the "out-of-town" letter drops at the participating post offices will be sent to the St. Louis Area Mail Processing Center for processing. This mail will bear the mail processing center postmark, which is "St. Louis, Mo. 631," along with a date and time designation.

The postmasters requested, that customers no longer use the word "city" on mail addressed for local delivery, but spell out the name of the city and use the correct zip code.

They emphasized that because of the high degree of mechanization at the AMP Center-facility, the use of zip code on all mail becomes extremely important.

"This program has been successful all over the country for six years. In some cases, there has been a misconception that the local postmark is "lost" in the process, but we want to make it clear that this is not true, as evidenced by the provisions we are making for local postmarking where desired," Backs explained.

All mail that is imprinted with postage meter postage must be tied or banded in bundles, bound or otherwise packaged if there are five or more letter type addresses must face in one direction.

New Illinois tax credit avoids double taxation

A change in the state's income tax act, effective this year, has removed the possibility of double taxation on some income, according to state Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin.

In the past, when certain expenses—like medical treatment costs, casualty losses or bad debts—were deducted for federal tax purposes, there was no corresponding deduction in the Illinois taxable income.

If the expense was recovered in the following year, part or all of it became taxable federally because of the previous deduction. But it was also taxed again by Illinois, since the recovered amount again became part of the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income.

Federal adjusted gross income is used as the starting point for computing Illinois income taxes.

The new state law, Alphin said, provides a deduction on line 4e of the Illinois income tax return, IL-1040, for any credit amount that is included in the federal adjusted gross income.

Alphin said, however, that recovered income cannot be deducted on the Illinois return unless there is a corresponding deduction on the federal tax return for the tax year in which the expense was incurred.

The director provided an example of what the new law means:

"Let's say that in 1975 you had a medical expense. Even though you had insurance, you wanted to get the bill paid, so you took care of the expense out of your own pocket."

"You itemized and deducted the expense on Schedule A of your 1975 federal income tax return. Since the amount appeared in the federal adjusted gross income, Illinois taxed it."

"Then, in 1976, your insurance company reimbursed you for the cost of the medical treatment."

"For federal purposes, part or all of recovered income is taxed. But for Illinois, the new law will allow you to deduct the federal tax amount, since it was taxed earlier by the state."

The director said that persons claiming credit for recovered income must attach to their IL-1040 a copy of Page 2 of the 1976 federal income tax return and a copy of federal Schedule A for the year in which the federal deduction was taken.

'Dual assessing' aids some farms

Because of statutory and constitutional requirements for assessment uniformity, farmland in Illinois must be assessed at the same percentage of market value as other property, Frank A. Kirk, director of the Department of Local Government Affairs, stressed Friday.

Since 1975, the law has required that all property be assessed at one-third of its potential selling price on today's real estate market.

Farmers, as well as other taxpayers, are being affected by increased assessments and increased spending by taxing districts which cause higher tax bills, Kirk asserted.

The Illinois legislature has provided protection for farmers in areas where land values are being driven up by non-farm influences, he said. The "dual assessment" law allows farmers in such areas to apply to the county to have their land assessed and taxed on its value in use as farmland rather than on its value for alternative uses. When the land use is changed, however, the law has a "rollback" provision requiring that the owner must pay back taxes for three years based on the land's higher value in non-farm use.

The "dual assessment" law is not a cure for farmers' woes, Kirk warned. First, the law only applies in cases where conversion of farmland to non-agricultural use is driving up land values.

Secondly, even farmland under dual assessment is required to "be valued on the basis of 33 1/3 per cent of its fair cash value, based upon the price it would bring at a fair, voluntary sale for use by the buyer for farming or agricultural purposes."

Kirk concluded, "Although assessing officials must obey the laws concerning assessment uniformity and assessment levels, taxpayers must remember that local-level taxing districts determine whether higher assessments are translated into higher tax bills. If the taxing districts hold the line on spending, tax rates will fall and tax bills will not go up."

According to the report, Mr. Reese was crushed between his camper and another camper driven into the driveway by a neighbor who apparently did not see Mr. Reese.

The former resident was born in Granite City and would have observed his 49th birthday today. He had resided in California 11 years.

Mr. Reese was employed by Allied Chemical Co., Carson City, and served in the U.S. Navy Reserve.

Other than his mother, survivors include his wife, Mrs. Yvonne Reese; three sons, Edward Reese Jr. of Carson City, Bobby and Kenneth Reese, both of Philadelphia, and several relatives in the Quad-City area.

Funeral services are tentatively set for Thursday in Carson City, Calif.

2 policemen are injured

Two Granite City patrolmen suffered minor injuries when their squad car and the auto of Michael Currier, St. Louis, were involved in an accident by city hall at 20th Street and Niedringhaus and Edison avenues.

Officers reported Currier's auto was pulling from a parking space into the street when it and the squad car collided. Currier was charged with parking in a no parking zone.

Patrolman Joseph Kastelle, driver of the squad car, and a passenger, Patrolman Raymond Ridge, suffered minor injuries which did not require hospital treatment.

Man hurt in 4-car crash

Clarence Tracy, 47, Cahokia, was transferred from St. Elizabeth Hospital to Pirmin Deagle Hospital, St. Louis, after his auto was involved in a four-car crash on Edwardsville Road just north of 13th Street at 7 a.m. Friday.

Tracy suffered an injury to his back and also had pain to his head, neck and a shoulder.

Police reported the auto of Lori Craden, 2033 Yale Ave., was in the outside northbound lane beside the auto of Robert Chapman, East St. Louis, in the inside northbound lane, when another car pulled from a drive into the street, causing Lori Craden to swerve to the left, striking Chapman's auto.

Chapman's car was pushed across the center line where it collided nearly head-on with Tracy's southbound auto. The southbound car of Mark Buckingham, 1740 Courtenay Blvd., then struck the rear of Tracy's auto, police reported. The auto which caused the accident by pulling out in front of the northbound cars, left the scene without stopping.

More women in Illinois House

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Women have increased their numbers significantly in recent years in the Illinois House of Representatives and in the new session 10 per cent of the representatives are females.

As late as 1972 only three of the 177 representatives were women. In the next session, there will be 18 women.

Five of the new members in the House are women. They are:

Peg McConnell Breslin, D-Ottawa, an attorney for the State Board of Education; Betty Hoxey, R-Ottawa, woman's chairman of the LaSalle County GOP Central Committee;

Lynn Martin, R-Rockford, a member of the Winnebago County Board;

Mary Lou Sumner, R-Dunlap, president of the Peoria County GOP Women;

Penny Pullen, R-Park Ridge, former legislative aide to various lawmakers. In the Senate, one of the five new members is Elean Collins, D-Oak Park. She defeated an organization-backed candidate in the primary, and she's expected to align with Sen. Dawn Clark Natesh, D-Chicago. The only other female in the upper chamber is Vivian Hickey, D-Rockford.

The other new members in the Senate are: Richard Clewis, D-Chicago, a regular Democrat; Mark Rhoads, R-Western Springs, a former legislative aide; Kenneth McKillan, R-Bushnell, an agricultural economist and former assistant to Earl Butz; and James Rupp, R-Decatur, the mayor of that city.

There are other members new to the Senate, but they have had previous experience in the House. Likewise, some of the members new to the House previously served in the Senate.

All totaled, 44 of the 236 legislators were not elected to their seats in the last general election. That turnover is comparable to past years.

When considering the prospects in this crop of freshmen, Elroy Sandquist Jr. of Chicago stands out. A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and Northwestern University School of Law, he has long been involved in politics. In 1964 he was the Republican nominee for attorney general and more recently he served on the Illinois Liquor Control Commission.

The youngest of the new members is Terry Sacco, 27, of Tinley Park. Although he is the youngest, he's not the greenest — he's familiar with the House. He served as an assistant to Rep. LeRoy Rayson.

Slezio is one of several legislative aides who were elected as representatives. Jim Edgar, R-Charleston, previously served as a top assistant to the House Republican staff and Larry Saffel, D-Charleston, worked on the staff of the Senate Democrats.

Penny Pullen worked as an aide to individual legislators. Although he hasn't worked for the legislature, David Robinson, D-Springfield, is knowledgeable with the process because of his work in state government.

Three other new representatives are worth mentioning at this point:

Jim Moore, D-Alton, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, has impressed many of the other legislators and cabinet observers.

Harold Adams, R-Davis Junction, former chairman of the Ogles County Board of Supervisors, is one of the few farmers elected to the House; Virgil Wilkoff, R-Champaign, former mayor of that city, is a past president of the Illinois Municipal League.

Time will tell which of these new members have the brightest political careers. Of the current freshmen, two of the most widely respected are James E. Owens, Mrs. Louise Townsend, Mrs. Thelma McDonald and Mrs. Caroline Goetz, dear grandfather.

His remains were taken from LAHEY FUNERAL HOME, 501 Madison Ave., Madison, Saturday, to the McKelvey Funeral Home, Charleston, Mo., for services at 1 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 16. Interment Oak Grove Cemetery, Charleston.

SCHOOL TESTS — I Early results a disappointment

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — A random sampling of more than 7,000 Illinois school children in the fourth, eighth and 11th grades indicates most of them can read a can label or a traffic sign, but only between a fourth and less than a half can satisfactorily handle fractions, long division or percentages.

The findings are part of the early returns from a long-range testing program called the Illinois Inventory and Educational Progress, which is the head of the state Office of Education (IOE), results produced "many good results" but showed "many needs for improvement."

The testing program is unusual since it measures what groups of students actually have learned, and actually can do, rather than testing one or more students for abilities, general achievement or potential.

Results are compiled as totals, individual schools or classes are not rated in comparison to one another.

Thus, even those in charge of the testing and evaluation operations in the IOE can't tell if Class A did better than Class B, or how Class C did in relation to either of them.

Tests were given last spring to about 7,500 youngsters in randomly selected learning centers around the state. Students tested were in the fourth, eighth and 11th grades.

This spring, a new test series on science and social studies will be given at another group of randomly selected Illinois schools, to students in the same grades.

Other educational areas will be covered in future tests. Original plans called for re-testing each subject every four years but a change in top personnel in the program two months ago has resulted in a reconsideration of the schedules.

Thomas Kerins, program evaluator for IOE, said he feels four years is "just too long to wait" to learn if the state's educational picture has improved or worsened in a given subject area, the following list of test results.

Commenting on tabulations of the first test results IOE Director Dr. Joseph M. Cronin said they indicated a typical Illinois fourth-grader could read and understand directions and warning signs, read and draw inferences from a simple story about a boat trip, count by fives, compare numbers and tell which is larger, draw triangles and do basic problems involving adding, subtracting or multiplying.

However, "long division problems, fractions and metric problems seemed to 'stump' more than half the fourth graders tested," he said.

Kerins warned against using the results as more than a generalized guide to specific areas such as long division, saying the tests were given last March and April and some schools do not begin long division until the last few weeks of the fourth grade.

At the eighth grade level the results showed that reading can labels and warning signs was successfully demonstrated by 80 to 96 per cent of those tested, and most did well finding program times in a television guide. They rated well on determining the right sign to use in a mathematical expression.

But only 25 per cent of the eighth graders could correctly figure 45 per cent of 180. Seventy-three per cent could figure how much money a babysitter would make at 75 cents an hour over several days for varying periods daily, but only 20 per cent were able to compute the amount of sales a salesperson would have to make to earn a $60 commission at the rate of 20 per cent.

At the 11th grade (high school juniors) 85 per cent could read and understand a can label (indicating that by the third year of high school, 15 per cent still could not) and 98 per cent could read and understand warning signs.

Between 70 and 80 per cent could read and correctly infer things from a short story about nature; only about 40 per cent could do the same when given a poem by Shakespeare.

"Yet between 93 and 98 per cent could look at a road map and answer correctly all four questions about it," Cronin said, adding that the ability is a "vital skill in this age of automotive travel."

At all grade levels the students apparently had trouble with the concept of metrics, new in this country though in use throughout most of the rest of the world. Among 11th graders, for instance, only 10 per cent could correctly tell the number of centimeters in one meter.

Nearly 84 per cent could figure the lowest price for oranges from among a variety of choices — 15 cents each, six for 79 cents, three for 40 cents, and the like — but only 40 per cent of the high school juniors could correctly solve the question involving a salesperson's commissions.

"The tests were meant to help us describe where we are in Illinois education," Cronin said. "Now we need to follow up with analyses of results, offers of local assistance where needed, and reinforcement of the programs that are working well."

Like Kerins, he cautioned against drawing unjustified conclusions from them, and said the tests are only a "starting place to help us to understand at the state level what schools may need from us. They are only one set of tools in the scholastic tool box."

SCHOOL TESTS — II Few institutions are volunteering

SPRINGFIELD — Of the thousands of public schools in Illinois, only a comparative handful are likely to be among those randomly chosen in any given year to participate in the Illinois Inventory of Educational Progress Testing Program. The rest can if they wish test themselves with the same materials and methods, but so far only a half dozen have chosen to do so.

There are 3,746 public elementary schools and 762 public high schools in Illinois. Last year, 234 schools were elected to participate and about 7,500 students in fourth, eighth and 11th grades among the 234 schools were tested in reading and math.

Though another group of schools will soon be selected for next spring's testing on science and social studies, those choosing to evaluate themselves will be getting the math and reading materials used in the "official" testing last spring.

The test is the outgrowth of a federal requirement that any state getting funds under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act must establish an assessment program. It demonstrates how much of what they are being taught is actually learned by the pupils, concentrating on "what" rather than "why." In other words, the tests will be reported to the IOE by Dec. 15 by Research Triangle Institute, a North Carolina firm which specializes in such exterior data.

That firm also selected the schools for last year's test, but this is expected to be the last time the choice is made outside the Illinois office of Education.

Any school wishing to evaluate its own success in teaching math and reading can now obtain master test books and tape recorded instructions on methods of testing by contacting the evaluation section of the IOE.

Jan Chastant in that section said only six schools in the state so far have indicated they actually intend to use the program, though a number of others have expressed varying degrees of interest.

The six which are "96 per cent certain to go ahead," she said, are at Orangeville, Joy, Belleville, Troy, Rossville and Brimfield.

Thomas Kerins, who heads up the IOE Evaluation Program, said the office is drawing up methods of making its own choices of subject schools in future. Tests in individual subjects will be repeated in a cycle pattern, allowing future comparisons of how well students are learning the subject at a given grade level.

Schools selected for the random testing program can refuse to participate and a number have done so. Ms. Chastant says. Willingness to participate, she adds, seems to be improving as more is understood about the program.

The IIEP is funded entirely by federal money, at a cost of about $140,000 yearly. Results of the tests are sent to the national assessment of educational progress, which distributes findings from participating states on a nationwide basis.

Only the results from the original random-choice schools are included in the results forwarded to the NAEP. Schools who participate on their own, later, gain knowledge about themselves, but have no input in the state's contribution to the nationwide program.

So far, according to the IOE, Illinois "seems to be doing better than the nation as a whole" on a basis of NAEP reports to date.

I suggest you discuss your particular circumstances with your local Social Security Office.

Q. My husband and I are 67. We retired at 65 but we would like to return to work to make a little traveling money. We each earned over $2,760 in 1976. We also received all our Social Security checks so I know we will have to pay something back.

If we report our 1976 earnings and then write a check for the amount we owe, will they send us 1977 checks on schedule each month? — E. R.

A. When you file your Annual Report of Earnings for 1976 (and it must be filed by April 15, 1977) you may repay whatever you owe back for 1976.

At the same time you will be asked to give an estimate of your 1977 earnings. If that estimate exceeds $3,000 (allowing annual earnings for 1977) Social Security benefits will be withheld up to the amount necessary to

Must be 62 to qualify for Social Security

Q. I have a spinster sister, 61, who was laid off from her job. Her unemployment insurance benefits will expire in a few months.

Will she be able to get Social Security and Medicare? Does the state where she lives make any difference? — Mrs. N. B.

A. She will not be eligible for Social Security retirement benefits until age 62. She should file an application about three months prior to her 62nd birthday.

Medicare coverage will not be available to her until the month she attains age 65. The rules governing the payment of Social Security benefits and Medicare coverage are the same in every state.

Q. Sometime ago you had a question about World War II military service and you indicated that Social Security was allowing credit at the rate of $160 per month for each month of active service.

I was on active duty in the Air Corps until I retired on a pension Nov. 29, 1946, after 20 years.

My question is, can I still use these dates for Social Security credits also? — M. J. L.

A. Military wage credits are not granted for Social Security coverage when there is a monthly benefit payable by another federal agency based on the same period of service.

This rule applies to those retiring from any branch of the military and to federal civil service employees whose military service is considered in computing monthly benefits payable upon retirement.

The rule applies to military service between September, 1940, and Dec. 31, 1956.

In 1957, military personnel began to contribute to Social Security and their period of military service from Jan. 1, 1957, is creditable for Social Security purposes.

Q. What amount of money can an adult retired person, working in a place like a sheltered workshop, earn and still receive Social Security? — M. A. O.

A. When an individual claiming disability benefits was the amount of his earnings may indicate that he (she) is capable of working on a regular basis.

In the case of work under special conditions such as at a sheltered workshop, any earnings received by the individual of a subsidy is generally not counted. Only the earnings attributable to the person's own productivity are considered.

In dollar amounts, the figure is generally the same as the monthly amount allowed to retired workers or dependents — $230 for 1976 and $250 for 1977. Remember that this is not a hard and fast rule and any work performed by a disabled beneficiary is considered to be a self-sustaining and no longer eligible for disability benefits.

I suggest you discuss your particular circumstances with your local Social Security Office.

News notes

Construction of three new bus garages, including one in Madison County, is proposed by the Bi-State Development Agency. The three and the replacement of seven existing bus facilities are part of a $50 million federal program currently proposed. Included in the plan is a new agency office site.

A task force created by Governor James Thompson and former Secretary of State Michael Howlett recommended yesterday that super-agencies handle duties currently performed by many state government departments, including the Board of Public Safety, the Board of Corrections and the Board of Juvenile Justice.

Fourteen major departments would report to the governor and two education agencies would report to boards named by the governor.

A Missouri legislative plan announced Friday would divert general aviation flights from Lambert Airport as a way of enhancing its capacity for airlines.

William Peltier, 41, Evanston, an advertising executive, was named Friday as new chairman of the Illinois Lottery Control Board, replacing Carlton Zucker.

The Illinois Transportation Department this week will begin removing U. S. Route 56 signs and replacing them with Interstate 55 markers. Sections between here and Chicago, not up to interstate standards, have been upgraded.

No more mass inoculations are planned, but the U.S. Army's Immunization Practices recommended Friday that swine influenza vaccine be made available again to adults who want it. The vaccine has been linked in some instances to the Guillain-Barre syndrome, a temporary paralysis that can be fatal. The committee weighed this risk against the value of the inoculations to the elderly and chronically ill.

The new U.S. senator from Missouri, John C. Danforth, Friday urged retention of Clarence M. Kelley as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Attorney General-designate Griffin Bell has said he would replace Kelley. Danforth praised Kelley's record and said the FBI should be kept free of politics: "It would be a serious mistake to make the directorship a function of Presidents in office or parties in power."

The Republican National Committee on the third ballot Friday elected William E. Brock III as party chairman. He was defeated for re-election Nov. 2 as a U.S. senator from Tennessee. A candy company heir, Brock is pledging to re-establish Republicans as "the party of Lincoln and freedom."

Sales of new autos Jan. 1-10 rose 20 per cent from the year-ago pace, sustaining a December sales surge.

James D. Williams, 19, of 2436 Edison Ave., has been charged by Granite City police with the burglary Dec. 30 at the home of Ronald Bricker, 3405 Princeton.

Officers said they have recovered a calculator stolen from Bricker's home. Still missing are a television set, a component stereo, a jewelry box, a wristwatch and other items.

Winter term assignment

An upbeat academic program at DePauw University (Greencastle, Ind.) provides students an opportunity during January to do something outside the conventional classroom format—the winter term. Participants this month will include Laura Robertson of Granite City.

The winter term encourages students to do an individual project or join a group project that occurs either on or off the campus. Ideally, the project is something imaginative or unusual or offers the student a new academic experience, a spokesman said.

The winter term project may be the idea of the student or a faculty member. The project may be done individually—one student a few years ago was a radio reporter on Sen. Hubert Humphrey's campaign staff—on or off campus, or in a group on or off campus.

In either case, the project must be done under the supervision of a faculty member.

Grades are unsatisfactory (U) or satisfactory (S). U's must be made up.

A student must successfully complete a winter term project each year he is on campus at DePauw.

The basic aim of the winter term is to give students an opportunity to engage in a single project or program of study in an area of his or her particular interest in a setting which has no schedule conflicts, no diversions from the project because of exams or papers in other courses, and no limitations on the use of library, laboratory or off-campus facilities.

"The real value of winter term is ultimately determined by the student. If the time is used wisely, it has proven to be a fantastic learning experience."

"Poorly motivated students tend to waste this opportunity just as they are apt to waste the conventional fall and spring semesters. We hope there are few of the latter," the spokesman commented.

Miss Robertson is taking part in a supportive counseling experience.

She is working with Ralph J. Hausmann, CSW, director of social service at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City.

The winter term will end on Jan. 28 and second-semester classes are to start Jan. 31 at Greencastle.

Craft, art classes at new gallery

Several Quad-City residents are among those registered to take part in one or more courses to be offered at a new art and crafts sales gallery—The Union Outlet II, located at 319 Vandalia St., Collinsville.

The gallery opened last month and is the first business venture for two area women, Dorothy Muniz and Donna Finch.

Both are frequenters of art shows, craft shops and galleries.

They have modeled their own shop on the art sales gallery in the Student Union at Iowa State University at Ames, Iowa, called The Union Outlet.

Primary objective of the gallery is to allow area artists and craftsmen to display and offer original works for sale to the public on a commission basis, the women explained.

The gallery managers and their art director, Pat Marsh-Whitlock, an Edwardsville Junior High School art instructor, insist work sold at Union Outlet II must only be of the highest quality and one-of-a-kind originals.

Now well stocked with a variety of art and craftwork, ranging from paintings to leather sculpture, the managers found many persons visiting the shop expressed interest in learning the different crafts.

They acquired additional space above the gallery and will offer six courses in diverse crafts, starting the first week in February, it was announced this week.

A nominal fee will be charged for the classes, most of which will take place one evening each week for a two-hour period, lasting six weeks.

A hand built pottery course, taught by Lee Marsh, will continue once a week for eight weeks.

The six-week classes are:

Jewelry construction—copper-silver wire forging and setting stones, instructed by Pat Marsh-Whitlock.

Fibre—knitting, weaving, coiling, quilting, tie-dye or batik, Connie Miller, instructor. Figure drawing in charcoal and pencil, Larry Eads, teacher.

Macrame jewelry, taught by Ann Blazek, and Mixed Media drawing, using inks, photo transfer, graphics, crayons and solvents, instructed by Ken Blazek.

Persons wishing to register for a course may call Mrs. Muniz or Mrs. Finch at 344-5885.

JEOP IS STOLEN
An orange 1977 Jeep vehicle was stolen from the parking lot of Crisman Motors, 2805 E. 23rd St., it was discovered Thursday. The steel cable around the car lot was bent down to drive the vehicle out. The Jeep has a white canvas top and wide knobby tires with "Desert dog" written on the tires.

Entertains co-workers

A group of fellow employees, all temporarily laid off from work at O'Bar-Nester Glass in East St. Louis, gathered last week for a party at the home of Mrs. Jo Burgener, 3404 Maryville Road, Mrs. Lancy Serrano was the co-hostess.

Most of the women were laid off work before the Thanksgiving holidays, but all are expecting to be recalled on the job by late January, Mrs. Burgener said.

The hostess and her guests are employed in the packing department at O'Bar-Nester, a manufacturer of glass bottles.

All are members of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union, Local 130 of East St. Louis.

Although the recent holidays, inclement weather and "old times" were discussed, the conversation usually returned to the unemployment situation in general, and specifically when members of the group will resume work themselves, Mrs. Burgener said.

The hostess has been employed at the East St. Louis plant for the past 16 years. Many of the guests have been employed there over 10 years.

The get-together was held on a snowy day, Mrs. Burgener said, noting that a couple of cars stalled in the driveway, requiring everyone to "pitch in" to leave the Maryville Road residence.

Among the guests were Marie Garner, Darlene Franke, Wilma Harris, Wilma Ortiz, Beverly Howard, Iva Lee Butler, Marie Gregory, Pauline Mezo and Ginger Howard, all of Granite City; Phyllis Holmann of Madison.

Lorene Studis, Gay Valner, Bea Miller, Theola Garcia, Josephine Smith, Nancy Sabo, Shirley Overmeyer, Sandra Dery and Louise Kitter, all of East St. Louis; and Ann Clark of Collinsville.

Pupils present demonstration

Maryville School students demonstrated equipment in the physical education department, which had been purchased by the PTA, during a monthly meeting held at the school, last week.

Grades one through three performed on the whistle, which is a network of bars and ropes, and teaches the concept of under, over and through; grades four and five performed the parachute with folk dances and pupils in the fifth and sixth grades jumped ropes, depicting three different types of skill.

The program was under the direction of Miss Margaret Roberts, physical education teacher.

Mrs. Terry Papa, president of the unit, introduced Miss Barbara Kerch, who was guest of honor at the evening session. Phyllis Pickersell and Tina O'Shea gave the secretary and treasurer reports.

The president announced the annual Fun Fair will be held at the school on April 15, with Mrs. Julia Gates serving as chairman. She also reported the nominating committee, Jack Miller, Barbara Haddock, Susan Gasparovic, Harry Gales and Joe Papa, will present a slate of officers for election at the March 2 meeting.

Principal Jack Mulach presented a $10 prize to Mrs. Carol Hornback's room, for having the largest number of parents present.

Refreshments were served by Kathy Hopp and Mrs. Barbara Swigert after the meeting.

Delay plans installation

The newly elected Noble Grand, Mrs. Pearl Wood, of Delray, Rebekah Lodge 788, announced the public installation of officers will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Odd Fellows Hall, Madison.

A school of instruction will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 25, Mrs. Wood added.

During the meeting Olive Roberts, degree captain and staff instructor John Farnback.

The retiring officer, Mrs. Zelma Finch, accepted special recognition to her officers and presented each a gift in appreciation.

Party honors Navy enlistees

A farewell dinner party was given last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Krajchovic, 538 Greenwood St., Madison, in honor of Gwendolyn Dawn Stratton, her brother, Raymond Lain Stratton Jr. and a friend Robert Stanley Kitchell, who have enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

They will be leaving soon for basic training in Florida. Guests attending included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stratton Str. Jolene, Matt and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Galayda, Karen and Steve Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lowe, Tina and Donnie, David Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lowe, Laura, Angie, Missie and Amy, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rudolph all of Granite City, Kevin Myers of Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kitchell and Minnie Hill of Shrewsbury, Mo., Mrs. Virgie Lowe and son Virgil Lee Stratton of Doniphan, Mo.

NEW VAN LOOTED
The bucket seats, a tire and wheel, a jack and a tire cover were stolen from a new van on the lot of Granite City Dodge, 1911 Madison Ave., between 5 p.m. Tuesday and noon Wednesday. A wire was believed used to unlock a door.

Delay inquest in double fatality

A coroner's inquest to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Kathleen Ann Fields, 29, and her son, John Christopher Fields Jr., 3, both of Glen Carbon was postponed from Friday until tomorrow when a young man expected to be the chief witness declined to testify on his attorney's advice.

Michael Krauskopf, 25, of 2830 Dale Ave., whose auto was involved in the Dec. 22 fatal accident with the Fields' auto, was subpoenaed to appear before the coroner's jury Friday afternoon, but came represented by his attorney, William Brandt.

Brandt contended the subpoena had no bearing, since it had not been served 72 hours in advance as required by law. He then advised Krauskopf not to testify and Madison County Assistant Coroner David Partney rescheduled the inquest to 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Krauskopf is charged with two counts of reckless homicide in the two deaths. He also is charged with driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs and Madison County sheriff's deputies have charged him with driving while his driver's license was suspended. It is alleged he operated his auto in a reckless manner on Route 162 near Lake Drive, the evening of Dec. 22, and his actions caused a car driven by Madison County Sheriff's Deputy John J. "Jack" Fields, to leave the roadway and strike a tree broadside, killing his wife and his son in the car.

Fields and his daughter, Colleen, 7, were injured and are recuperating from their injuries.

Tuesday's inquest is to be held at Mercer Mortuary, 1418 Niedringhaus Ave.

Suit charges airport x-ray harm films

The 4,000-member Chicago Area Camera Clubs Association and Chicago-based SIMA Products Corp. last week filed suit in federal district court at Chicago in an effort to force the Federal Aviation Administration to change signs at all U.S. airports so travelers are warned that x-ray machines used to screen carry-on luggage are "not film-safe."

Spokesmen for the two, said extensive field testing leaves no doubt that airport x-rays can damage undeveloped film of all types.

John A. Rupikalis, an independent technical authority, whose yearlong study of the effects of airport x-ray film was published last June in Technical Photography Magazine, reiterated at a news conference the results of his field research.

"Out of every 100 rolls of film passing through airport x-ray screening machines, 17 will probably be damaged at least to some extent. And you never know when damage will occur," he said.

"It may not happen at all, it could take place after more than one airport security check on the same trip, or your film could get 'zapped' the first time through."

"In my opinion, running film of any type unprotected through airport x-ray screening machines is like driving an auto without insurance; you just never know when your number is up."

Attorney Ray J. Cohen said the purpose of the suit is to force the FAA to change the wording of signs posted at all U.S. airport x-ray screening areas to read: "This x-ray machine is not film-safe. Remove all photographic film from carry-on baggage. Physical inspection may be requested."

Existing FAA-approved airport signs proclaim that screening machines are "safe for ordinary film."

Cohen emphasized that the plaintiffs are "100 per cent in favor of airport screening. No rational person would suggest anything that would compromise airport security screening."

"All we are suggesting is that the FAA be candid with the public about the potential effects of airport x-rays on personal property, namely photographic film."

"Since there are several ways to protect film from airport x-rays, including the use of lead-laminated pouches and availability of hand inspection, we fail to see why the Federal Aviation Administration has chosen to be so stubborn."

"Their resistance is especially puzzling in the face of scientific field research which shows the FAA position to be in error."

Irvin Diamond, who said he has been trying to get the FAA to "see the light on the airport x-ray problem" for over three years, said the suit is a "last resort" move.

"The camera clubs and SIMA, in accordance with federal regulations, filed a formal petition last fall seeking to change the wording of the airport signs. We hoped that the FAA would see that we were trying to work through its existing channels. The FAA has been sitting on that petition, without acting, since the beginning of September 1976."

"Professional photographers, including newspaper and magazine photographers, will readily confirm that they take strict precautions to guard against airport x-ray damage to their film. It is the general public that is vulnerable in this situation."

"The public is being led to believe that airport x-ray units are 'film safe.' It is being deceived, with the consequence being the loss of valuable, irreplaceable film."

New Bi-State Agency site

The Bi-State Development Agency will move its executive and administrative offices into a renovated turn-of-the-century building in historic Laclede's Landing, Robert J. Baer, the executive director, said today. Baer said the agency's Board of Commissioners has approved plans to purchase the six-story building at First and Lucas Streets, St. Louis, built 75 years ago for the Christian-Pepper Tobacco Co. and known as the Old Tobacco Factory.

Cost of the facility, which contains nearly 125,000 square feet, is $400,000, with design and rehabilitation expected to run about $2 million.

Savings, lending records

Savings and lending records in Illinois were set for November despite seasonal declines caused by the holiday period and poor building weather, new statistics disclose.

Net new savings received by Illinois insured savings and loan associations were at a November record of $183,124,000. Despite a 29 per cent decline from October, the month was still 9.4 per cent over a year before.

Likewise, total loans closed for November were $461,136,000, a 6.7 per cent decrease from the previous month but a 55 per cent climb from November 1975.

The figures represent the latest data from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Adam Jahns, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, noted that residential loans closed for construction totaled $53 million and residential loans closed for purchase were $328 million for November 1976.

Residential loans were down 5.4 per cent from October, due to the decline during winter weather of building and purchasing.

New loan commitments made in November totaled $472 million, which was less than a one per cent decline from October. Mortgage loan commitments outstanding were $933 million, another record for the month of November.

The amount of all mortgage loans outstanding in the state during November totaled $23.6 billion.

Total savings capital held by the 390 reporting associations was $24.6 billion. Total assets for the state's associations were $28.8 billion on Nov. 30.

He also noted the cap to the master cylinder was found laying on the frame of the car

Icy road

Dutton testified it appeared Deputy Abel's auto was attempting to negotiate a dangerous "S" curve when the right front wheel dropped off the right side of the pavement into a rut about four inches deep.

The car then went out of control on the ice, crossed the road, left the pavement and struck a utility pole broadside at the driver's door.

Partney asked if the tread on the squad car's tires was sufficient. Dutton testified he measured the tread of three tires at the scene and found them to be within legal limits with two of them being better than average.

One had three thirty-seconds of an inch tread and the law requires two thirty-seconds of an inch to be safe.

Dutton said he was unable to get to the fourth tire to measure the tread.

He said it was impossible to measure the speed the squad car was going when it went out of control.

Lt. Ladd testified the sheriff's department mechanic and a tire company had examined the car and its tires. Two tires were burned in the fire and the tire pressure could not be determined; one tire had 28 pounds of air pressure, and the other tire measured 22 pounds of air pressure, but had a faulty valve stem and the reading could have been inaccurate.

He said tread measurements showed 8-32 of an inch, 5-32, 4-32 and 3-32 of an inch on the four tires.

Ladd also read a report by Wilfred Eberhardt, mechanic for the sheriff's department, indicating the fire in the car may have started as the result of hydraulic brake fluid spilling on the engine at impact.

His report indicated the master brake fluid cylinder had been pushed up against the fender splash apron. "It is possible the hydraulic fluid splashed on the hot exhaust manifold, causing the fluid to ignite," Eberhardt's report noted.

He also noted the cap to the master cylinder was found laying on the frame of the car

McPike opens legislative office in GC

State Rep. Jim McPike (D-Alton) has opened an office at 2632 Madison Ave., to aid constituents in resolving any state-related problems, it was announced Friday.

Rep. McPike said the office will be open six days a week—from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. week days and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Someone will be at the office at all times to answer inquiries, provide information and assist persons in problems they may have related to state offices or services, McPike said that when he is not attending House sessions at Springfield, he will be at the office personally on Tuesdays and Fridays.

"I would like to urge all residents of the Quad-Cities to use the office so that matters requiring attention may be referred to me for action," McPike said.

THEFT FROM VAN

A stereo and speakers valued at a total of $241 were stolen from the van of Michael Williams, 2114 Lincoln Ave., parked at the rear of his home here last week. A window was forced down slightly and a wire was believed used to unlock a door. The dashboard was damaged and the carpeting was pulled up by the thieves while removing the stereo.

KIRKPATRICK BURGLARY

A $35 combination radio and tape player, a $32 radio, a television set, some pots and pans, costume jewelry and a key were stolen during a burglary at the home of Theresa Padgett, 105 Kirkpatrick Homes, between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Thursday. Glass was removed from the rear door to gain entry.

where it possibly fell after flying off on impact. He said if the cap had fallen off prior to the accident, it probably would have been thrown free when the car struck the pole.

Sadlowski

steelworkers jobs. My father was a steelworker 37 years. I have been a steelworker most of my life. All of my relatives are steelworkers.

"What I said in the article was that technological advancements have gutted the number of basic steelworkers in a few years from 525,000 to 400,000 and, if continued, we conceivably could end up with 100,000 basic steelworkers."

"It is high time the union, through collective bargaining addresses that issue. If steel can be made with 100,000 workers, then all of us must share in the difference of the profit."

He said he believes the union should work toward retirement benefits which are 100 per cent of the salary a man is receiving when he retires after 30 years of service.

"There are many, many steelworkers who have 30 years in, and would like to take their retirement, but are afraid their standard of living would go down."

"I believe a man should be able to maintain the same standard of living when he retires. There are a lot of better things in life than working on top of a coke oven."

"This would open up thousands of new jobs as people retire. They will retire, given the standard of living they are used to," Sadlowski contended.

He cited statistics from a U.S. Steel retirement fund, alleging the fund has been making a large annual profit from money paid in by employees.

"What happens to the money a worker who quits after seven or eight years has contributed? The company keeps it."

"United States Steel is making a big profit just from the interest on the pension money it has invested," Sadlowski alleged, supporting his contention that firms "could afford 100 per cent pensions without raising the price of steel."

He told the steelworkers he is in strong opposition to the experimental negotiating agreement (ENA) which he said others want to continue.

The ENA requires that all issues which cannot be resolved in collective bargaining be given to an impartial arbitrator for a decision, he said.

"There is no such thing as an impartial arbitrator. There is no such animal. I have not met one yet."

"Even if there is, I do not think I should have to submit my economic destiny to someone who is not involved in the plight of the man in the mill."

"The average American laborer makes $15,200, per year," Sadlowski said, adding, "We are supposed to submit his case to someone making $75,000 or $100,000 per year and let him decide this man's future. It is completely unrealistic."

"Most mediators are lawyers, or big businessmen, or pensioners, or a disgraced judge. They cannot relate to a man in the mill who knows what a loaf of bread costs."

"I would be all in favor of having a housewife sit there and determine what an economic package should be," Sadlowski asserted.

He also addressed himself to the issue of better environmental controls in the steel industry. "I am in favor where no one is subjected to gas in the air and polluted water. You can make steel and have clean air," he said.

Responding to a question, he said, "If you tell me you cannot make coke with oven doors that seal properly, I'll eat your shoes."

Discussing the South Chicago area where he was born and still lives, Sadlowski said, "I used to think that garbage came down from the sky naturally-like rain."

"When housewives who had to hang their wash out in the air and others objected, they cleaned it up."

"The old saying, 'Smoke out of the stacks is bread on the table,' is hoodwinking the public."

"You can make steel very economically and readily available without a deterrent on jobs, and you can make it clean."

"Steel companies know they can do it, as witnessed in their agreements with the Environmental Protection Agency where they admit they can make steel with clean air and water, but in four or eight years," the candidate told those at the rally.

Sadlowski criticized what he called "an anti-union grievance procedure" used in the steel industry.

McBride says, "let us continue," and I say, "Steelworkers cannot afford to let it continue. It is time for a change," Sadlowski said.

Commenting on his victory in February 1973 as director of the Chicago district for the USW, the largest district in the international organization, Sadlowski said, "I went to bed that night winning by 2,000 votes and woke up losing by 2,000. I

ATTENTIVE STEELWORKERS at the Polish Hall in Madison Thursday night listen as Ed Sadlowski, a candidate for international president of the United Steelworkers of America, details his plans for the union's future, if he is elected over Lloyd McBride of this district Feb. 8. A crowd of about 250 persons filled the hall for what was billed as an "old-time union rally." After Sadlowski's talk, those present donated a total of $499 to his campaign.

"THERE ARE A LOT BETTER THINGS in life than working on top of a coke oven," Ed Sadlowski comments during one of the lighter moments of a press conference before he addressed a union rally here Thursday night.

"I AM NOT A COMMUNIST, subversive, radical or revolutionist," Sadlowski asserted to newsmen Thursday night. He said he is angry over what he contends is a "smear" campaign launched by his union opponents.

"OUR UNION NEEDS NEW LEADERSHIP," Ed Sadlowski proclaims from the speaker's platform during Thursday night's United Steelworkers rally here. He alleged that Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and the candidate he favors to succeed him, Lloyd McBride, have not worked in steel mills in many years and cannot relate to the "average steelworker."

numerous ice gorges have formed, still strongly recommends that no towboats depart south from St. Louis or north from Cairo until ice and low water conditions improve.

It is being further recommended that towboats in the above area proceed to a safe mooring due to ice gorging and heavy ice floes.

Ice 13 to 18 miles north of Cairo yesterday blocked off the Mississippi River. Fifty tows totaling about 400 barges at present are located between there and this metropolitan area.

The Federal Power Commission on Friday authorized emergency natural gas sales at prices above the ceiling, and issued an appeal to Americans to conserve their gas usage.

"Numerous natural gas pipelines are facing supply shortfalls to meet high-priority loads," the commission said.

The FPC with favor on using intra-state supplies on an interstate basis to cope with severely cold weather and to avoid unemployment, production declines and health hazards associated with lack of natural gas.

$177 CASH STOLEN

Dorothy Schildman, 2942 Oregon St., discovered at 1:30 p.m. Saturday that $177 in cash had been stolen from an envelope in a bedroom dresser drawer.

found he had been ripped off. "We went to the federal courts and a second election was ordered with 250 federal marshals to assure a fair election and I won 40,000 votes to 30,000 votes, the highest number of votes and the biggest margin in history."

"The most important thing is that in a democratic union, your votes will count."

"Anytime votes are stolen, your rights on the shop floor are stolen as well. Tragically, that has been the case," Sadlowski told the rally.

He said his objective in balloting Feb. 8 is "to beat McBride by so many votes that no matter how many aren't counted we will beat him by an overwhelming majority."

In closing, Sadlowski told the rally, "I promise that I won't only come down here Jan. 13 looking for your support. I promise that on Feb. 9 I will be back here looking for your advice."

Suggest early filing of state income tax returns

The Illinois Revenue Department has urged taxpayers to file their tax returns early but to complete their federal income tax returns before starting work on their Illinois tax forms.

More than half the 4,500,000 income taxpayers in the state will get refunds this year, according to department estimates. Refund checks are sent most promptly to taxpayers who file early.

The department's annual report, newly released, showed that the state collected $4,465,000,000 during the 1975-76 year.

Receipts from the first full year's operation of the Illinois state lottery totaled $164 million. Of this, $73,760,000 was given out as prize money, $17,400,000 was used for commissions and fees for ticket sales and for operating expenses, and $72,850,000 was added to the general revenue fund.

State Department of Public Aid and Aging has begun a joint project aimed at helping senior citizens in the state who are entitled to food stamps and other aid to get it more easily.

The joint program will include training programs and public education measures. Senior citizens who wish to know more about food stamps or other government services can obtain information quickly by writing Aging—Box 60, Springfield, Ill. 62705.

Unemployment declined moderately in Illinois during December, going from 7.4 per cent of the labor force to 7.1 per cent. The Illinois Labor Department said most urban areas had less unemployment in December, but Springfield experienced an increase from 6.0 to 6.7 per cent due to layoffs in manufacturing and construction.

Nine Illinoisans will be sworn in as Conservation Police officers today and will begin training at the State Police Academy in Springfield.

Two women will be among the students. They will be the first women Conservation Police officers in Illinois when they complete their training and probationary employment.

The nine were selected from over 300 persons who took a Department of Personnel test for the State Conservation Police.

Nearly 30 million persons visited Illinois state parks and historic sites during 1975, setting a new record for attendance. The Conservation Department's annual report also shows that two new parks opened last year, and that more than 4,000 acres of additional open space were acquired by the department for recreation in Illinois.

Rock Cut State Park northwest of Rockford will hold its fifth annual winter carnival Jan. 25 and 30. Many modern and traditional winter sports and games will be included in the event.

A large collection of glass trade beads, given by European traders to American Indians in exchange for furs and other items, is now on display at the Illinois State Museum in Springfield through Feb. 27 and at the Dickson Mounds Museum, Lewistown, starting March 15.

LEARNING THEORY OUTLINED IN TALK Professor Steven G. Sanders of SIUE presented a colloquium on the Flaget Learning Theory in College to the physics department of Western Illinois University Thursday. Sanders received a faculty development award at SIUE last year for his studies of the relationship of students' intellectual levels to performance in mathematics and science courses.

While at Western, Sanders also consulted with the university's Radio Frequency Plasma Physics Group, which he is assisting in developing an ion heating facility. During his visit, he met with the physics faculty on the physics curricula for general students.

What you see

They are sold mainly in transient tourist areas and so-called "bargain" outlets for half the price of nationally advertised brands of blank tapes.

But, if you stop and read the labels carefully, you might see names such as "KDK," "Computron," "Four Star" and "SkyMaster"—names close enough to the national brand names to fool you.

Larry Finley, executive director of the International Tape Association (ITA), has told me that "jamming" is a common problem with the poorer quality cassettes, cassettes and tapes.

Also, their performance is usually 20-30 per cent below what can be expected from the better quality products.

Before you buy blank cassettes, eight-track cassettes or even pre-recorded tapes and records, you should:

1. Carefully examine the product for a reliable trademark.

2. Familiarize yourself with the list prices of products you buy regularly, and question thoroughly any suspicious "bargains."

3. Purchase these products from reputable stores. Most companies that manufacture and sell quality blank tapes and recordings guarantee a 100 per cent replacement policy for defective items.

If you buy a poor quality product with the mistaken belief that it is a well known brand, I recommend that you take the following action: —If possible, return the tape to the seller for a refund or exchange for the product you believed you were getting.

—Notify the manufacturer, whose product has been copied. —Notify Larry Finley, International Tape Association, 10 W. 66th St., New York, N. Y. 10022.

Freeburg, Teutopolis top Venice

Venice High School cagers suffered back-to-back losses during the weekend, losing 110-63 at Freeburg on Friday night and then 92-54 to Teutopolis here Saturday night.

Coach Lawrence Carie's Teutopolis squad remains undefeated with 14 wins against no losses after leading Venice 24-11, 49-21 and 71-34 at the quarters.

Carie cited the Venice squad's 25 turnovers in the game as a factor in the final score. Teutopolis had 15 turnovers.

From the floor, Teutopolis made 39 field goals in 78 attempts, and Venice 30 of 59. Each side made 14 free throws.

Venice committed the most fouls, 16-14, and trailed in rebounds, 37-23.

GC North set for East cage tourney

GCHS North cagers will compete this week for a fourth time in the annual Belleville East tournament.

The meet starts tomorrow and concludes with the championship game on Saturday.

Coach William Ohlendorf's Steelers have yet to capture top honors in the East tourney, but the mentor is optimistic this season.

"We'll go there hoping to play three games and we're eager to win all three,"

Top-seeded Belleville East Lancers and Triad (St. Jacob-Troy-Marine) open the competition tomorrow in a 7 p.m. contest, followed by a game between GCHS North and fourth-seeded Centralia at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

First-round games will continue Wednesday, with second-seeded Murphysboro and Belleville Althoff taking to the courts at 7 p.m. and third-seeded Belleville West meeting St. Louis Roosevelt High at 8:30 p.m.

The eight-school tourney has seen Cahokia and O'Fallon withdraw. The two have been replaced with Centralia and Roosevelt.

North's Steelers have claimed consolation honors twice since first participating in 1974, and North took third place once.

In 1974, North bowed 72-34 to Belleville West and then beat O'Fallon 60-51 and Cahokia 58-54 for the consolation crown.

That was the year first-time entry Murphysboro swept to the championship.

The following year, Belleville West won the tournament and the Steelers placed third with a 54-53 win over East's Lancers after beating Althoff 55-41 and losing 63-61 to the eventual champs.

The host school took top honors last year. North High, after losing 60-55 to Cahokia, again took the consolation title with a 69-55 win over Triad and then a 79-66 triumph over Althoff.

Thus far in the 1976-77 season, Belleville East is the only school entered that the Steelers have played. North bowed to the Lancers 60-49 in the season opener.

A win tomorrow would advance the Steelers to semifinal action Thursday at 8:30 p.m. against either East or Triad.

Another semifinal contest is slated for 8:30 p.m. Friday between Wednesday's winners. GCHS North would advance into Saturday's 8:30 p.m. title game with a victory Thursday.

A loss Thursday would place North in a third-place contest at 7 p.m. Saturday.

A first-round loss would place North in a consolation bracket

42-14 record deficit too big

GCHS South cagers had their 1976-77 season record evened at 8-8 Friday night across the river, losing 61-58 to host McCluer North High School in a contest which saw the McCluer squad dominate the boards.

A home game Saturday night at South High was postponed when the scheduled opponent, St. Teresa of Decatur, experienced bad weather and could not make the trip. The contest will be rescheduled for a later date.

McCluer led the contest all the way, 10-0, 40-24 and 62-40 at the quarters, and scored more than 20 points on 42 rebound recoveries. South pulled down 14 rebounds.

"That was the name of the game," said Warrior mentor Don Detarding.

Beeville West edges South after 21 years

Maroon matman Rick Dunn led a victory for Beeville West Friday evening to snap a GCHS South winning streak over the Beeville squad which began back in 1955.

For two decades, Coach William Schmitt's Warriors had put a stranglehold on Beeville Township and Beeville West wrestling teams, but it all ended Friday with a 28-22 win for Coach John Wehmeier's grapplers in Beeville.

South took an early lead when Rocky Lupardus (98 pounds) won 10-0 and Mike Fiesches (167) wrestled his opponent to a scoreless draw, making the team scores West 25 and South 16.

South needed wins in the remaining two bouts to tie or win.

Warrior Jim Carmody (155) won 10-0 and Mike Fiesches (167) wrestled his opponent to a scoreless draw, making the team scores West 25 and South 16.

South's Kevin Wilson (185) proceeded to take on Maroon Dunn and gained a takedown with 1:30 left in the first period.

Dunn escaped with 50 seconds to go, and took Wilson Down with 30 seconds left. He then came close to pinning the Warrior.

The three-point near-fall gave Dunn the lead. Wilson fought back with a reversal in the second period, but could not get Dunn on his back. Dunn gained two additional points to win 4-0 when he broke loose from a hold.

Warrior Heavyweight Mark Naglich pinned his opponent in 3:34.

U. S. to help Steelworkers during voting

The U.S. Labor Department has created a task force to help the United Steelworkers of America conduct its Feb. 8 election of top union officers in conformance with federal laws. The three-member task force will provide technical advice on the conduct of the election to the union and to candidates for office, Bernard E. Delury, assistant secretary for labor-management relations, told the Press-Record.

This and other help is being offered in response to requests from the parties.

Delury also offered to provide 50 compliance officers from his staff — two in each of the union's 22 districts in the United States and backup personnel — to instruct tellers from the approximately 4,000 state Steelworkers locals on requirements of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act. The 600 Canadian locals do not come under U.S. law.

In letters to representatives of the union and presidential contenders Lloyd McBride and Edward Sadowski, the department further proposed that:

On the day before the election, and on election day, compliance officers be available at district offices to answer any question arising just prior to, or during the election.

When tally return sheets from local unions arrive at union headquarters in Pittsburgh, they be handled by Labor Department personnel.

Named to the task force are these Labor Department officials:

Richard G. Hunsucker, deputy director of the Office of Labor-Management Standards Enforcement.

William B. Kane, administrator, Pittsburgh area office.

And John E. Lamb, counsel for interpretations and opinions of the Office of the Solicitor.

The department would invite two representatives of the union and one person representing each major slate of candidates to work with task force members. A representative of other candidates may also participate.

The department's assistance will not involve either supervision or pre-election investigation for several reasons, Delury said.

As to supervision, the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, as amended, specifically provides for supervision of a labor organization election only after the election has been completed and after a departmental investigation based on a member's complaint has established that violations of the act occurred during the election and may have affected the outcome.

Another insurmountable problem to departmental supervision of the 1977 Steelworkers election is the huge monetary and manpower cost that would be involved, he related. Supervision in all of the local unions in the U.S. would require use of thousands of departmental supervisors and expenditure of millions of dollars.

The department also has decided not to conduct pre-election investigations because it believes the law requires that the union conduct its own election.

It is felt that a federal investigative presence during the course of the election could influence potential voters and thereby affect the election outcome, contrary to the avowed intent and purpose of the LMRDA.

Indoor air pollution studied

How polluted is the air inside buildings? What are sources of indoor air pollution?

These are some of the questions researchers at the School of Public Health, University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago, are trying to answer with a series of projects which include monitoring the air inside the University of Illinois Hospital and studying electrical home and office equipment as a possible source of indoor pollution.

"The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has established ambient air quality standards which are usually assumed to apply to air outside buildings. However, the average person spends about 70 percent of his time inside," said Robert Allen, a research assistant at the U. of I. School of Public Health.

"The question is: How does the air environment inside a building compare with the environment outside?"

Allen is conducting the study of hospital air as part of his bioengineering doctoral thesis research. He is also assisting in projects involving home electrostatic air cleaners, photocopying machines and other high-voltage electrical equipment as potential sources of indoor air pollution.

Dr. Richard A. Wadden, associate professor of environmental health sciences, U.

I. School of Public Health, is principal investigator for the studies of air cleaner and other possible pollution sources. Assisting him is Edgar Rose, a master degree student in bioengineering at the U. of I. Chicago Circle Campus.

Dr. Wadden is also advising Allen on the hospital project. "I chose the hospital for my study because the very young, the very old and persons with diseases are most susceptible to the effects of air pollution, and the hospital concentrates these groups into a small area," Allen continued.

"The project involves monitoring two pollutants—carbon monoxide and ozone—within three areas of the hospital: the neonatal and medical intensive care units and an office area."

Allen's goals are to characterize the indoor environment in relation to carbon monoxide and ozone and to develop models or methods for predicting the concentration of those two pollutants.

Annaea Neal of the School of Public Health has also characterized these same hospital areas with respect to two other air pollutants, particulate matter and sulfur dioxide, in her thesis research.

"The purpose of the EPA's air quality standards is to protect public health," Allen said. And if we protect that health outside, we should do it inside as well.

"It is hoped my study will provide a method whereby you can insert information about a building's ventilation system and indoor sources of pollution as well as information about the air outside the building to compute the indoor concentration of a given air pollutant," he added.

Although still collecting data for his study, Allen said he plans to complete the project by June. Also on-going are studies of electrical equipment as potential sources of home and office pollution. Findings are still not complete, but Allen said chances are good that a few electrical units do create some indoor pollution.

For example, some persons with allergies who use electrostatic air cleaners in their homes have complained of smelling ozone coming from the units. "If these units create ozone, then these persons are just trading one set of irritants in the air for another," Allen commented.

"Of course, almost any kind of electronic equipment is a potential source of pollution, especially equipment with high voltages or motors where there could be sparking," he added. "Sparkling or high voltages provide the energy required to ionize oxygen molecules and create ozone."

Births decline, deaths increase

Births occurring in Madison County during December declined slightly below the total of the same month a year ago, while deaths increased, also slightly, and the number of marriages was identical to the December 1975 figures, according to a vital statistics report by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

The report shows 286 births during December—143 boys and 143 girls, compared to 275 births in December a year ago—140 boys and 125 girls. Three sets of twins were born last month, compared to four sets a year ago.

One hundred and fifty-four deaths occurred in the county during December, up 12 from the 142 deaths during the same month a year ago.

There were 230 marriages in December, the same as in December 1975.

National Steel pension benefits for GC Steel salaried employees

An improved pension plan for salaried employees was announced on Friday by Granite City Steel President Robert D. McBride.

In a letter distributed with salary paychecks, he said the board of directors of National Steel Corporation, of which Granite City Steel is one of four steelmaking divisions, has approved adoption of the National Steel retirement program for all salaried employees who have been covered by the former Granite City Steel plan in whole or in part.

The change will apply retroactively to all those who were employed on or after July 31, 1976.

In a related move, it was announced that Granite City Steel salaried employees will be switched to the National Steel long-term disability (LTD) program.

While the provisions are roughly the same as the former Granite City LTD plan, those covered will begin paying a small monthly premium rather than receiving free coverage.

Premiums amount to less than half a cent for each dollar of salary over $50 per month. First deductions will be made Feb. 28, at which time GC Steel LTD coverage ends. There will be no change for those already receiving LTD benefits.

McBride listed several highlights of the new pension plan—the main one being retirement on an unreduced pension after 30 years of service or at age 62 for those with more than 15 years of service. Under the old GCs plan, an unreduced pension was possible only at age 65.

Former Koppers Company employees, most of whom worked at the blast furnace facilities after they were purchased from Koppers, also benefit from a new provision calling for calculation of pension service from a participant's last date of hire. Previously, some had been credited with service only as far back as Feb. 1, 1946.

Also, for those who left Granite City Steel employment and returned to the company later, all prior periods of service in excess of six months will be included in calculating pension amounts.

A new surviving spouse benefit is another feature of the plan. It pays 50 per cent of an employee's regular pension amount to his spouse for life—whether death occurs before or after retirement, provided the employee has 15 years of service. This amount is subject to Social Security adjustment when the spouse reaches age 60.

There are a number of other improvements as well, McBride said.

51 million covered by $2.30 minimum

The federal minimum wage increased to $2.30 an hour for nearly 14 million workers this month.

The total number of workers now covered by the $2.30 minimum is 51 million.

Workers brought under the protection of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) in 1967 or later benefit from the Jan. 1, 1977, increase. Workers covered by the FLSA before 1967 have been entitled to the $2.30 rate since Jan. 1, 1976.

Of the almost 14 million workers covered by the new minimum, more than two million will receive the hourly increase. The rest of the workers covered by the wage increase are already earning the $2.30 minimum or more.

Employment categories covered by the Jan. 1, 1977, change include:—Laundry and dry cleaning establishments;—Construction enterprises with a gross annual business volume of less than $50,000 (larger construction firms are already subject to the $2.30 minimum);—Private hospitals, nursing homes, preschools, schools and colleges;—Hotels, motels, restaurants and certain other enterprises with an annual gross sales volume of at least $50,000.

All branches of an enterprise, if the enterprise as a whole grosses at least $50,000 annually (ending a current exemption for individual establishments grossing less than $20,000); and;—Household domestic workers.

In addition, farm workers covered by a current $2 minimum wage became entitled to $2.30 an hour Jan. 1, with a subsequent increase to $2.30 on Jan. 1, 1978.

The FLSA, which sets minimum wage, overtime pay, child labor and equal pay standards, is administered and enforced by the Employment Standards Administration's Wage and Hour Division.

South will host speech tournament

Nearly 10,000 of the state's secondary school students will participate in individual events of the 1977 Illinois High School Association (IHSA) state speech contest series when the series gets under way at the district level Saturday, Feb. 5, at 24 sites. Granite City's North and South will compete at Wood River High School.

Participants from 350 schools will enter contestants in 11 individual events at the districts.

Qualifiers from the districts will advance to six correlated sectionals Saturday, Feb. 12, at Carpentersville, Dundee, Decatur, MacArthur, Granite City South, Hillside's Proviso West, Sterling High and Yorkville.

Those who qualify at the sectionals will advance to the state final contest the weekend of Feb. 18-19 at Bradley University, Peoria.

Individual events competition is divided into the following categories:

Extempore speaking, oratory, dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, verse reading, original comedy, radio speaking, prose reading, oratorical declamation, dramatic duet acting and humorous duet acting.

Each of the individual events is specifically defined according to what the participant may or may not read, speak or write about in the vein designated for the event.

A state team champion will be determined in individual events on the basis of points earned by a school from all its participants in the events included in this category. Individual state champions are also crowned in each of the 11 individual events.

South Holland Thornwood rolled up 24 points to take the team individual events title last year. A total of 44 schools scored points at the state speech contest last year in individual events.

Sectional contenders here Feb. 12 will represent districts at Wood River, Quincy, Benton and O'Fallon.

Health, safety inspection ban will be fought

Dr. Morton Corn, assistant secretary of labor and head of the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), has vowed to fight a decision of the U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho that enjoined the department from conducting workplace inspections.

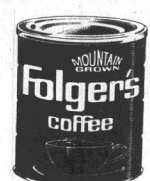

"I am deeply concerned about the implications of the court's decision," he said. "Under our present system of scheduled inspections, we visit establishments that, based on industry average injury rates, can be expected to have significant numbers of hazards to employee safety and health."

"It is difficult to imagine any administrative system directed at preventive measures that could anticipate with any greater degree of accuracy the hazards we might encounter in any given workplace. Of course, OSHA also responds to complaints and accident investigations."

"Given this situation, OSHA will actively pursue all legal avenues of recourse open to us. These include filing with the Idaho court a motion to stay the injunction."

Pending the solicitor general's approval, the government also intends to appeal the decision directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. Since the federal court in Idaho granted an injunction restraining the enforcement of an act of Congress on constitutional grounds, we are entitled to seek relief directly from the Supreme Court.

"Meanwhile, OSHA is not conducting inspections in Idaho pursuant to the court decision pending a ruling on the request for a stay. The Department of Labor is continuing to evaluate the decision regarding its impact."

Civil suits on highway construction bid rigging

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott last week filed two civil antitrust suits seeking triple damages from 10 highway contracting firms located in Illinois and Wisconsin.

The firms are accused of rigging bids in the construction of portions of federally-assisted highways in Moultrie, DeWitt, Fayette, Effingham and Shelby Counties.

The two suits involve four highway projects with a combined contract value of $2,460,000. Actual damages before tripling would be determined by the Federal District Court in Springfield, Scott said.

In earlier federal suits three of the defendants named by Scott pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to eliminate competition and bid rigging, and two additional defendants named in Scott's suit were found guilty of the same charges after trial.

The guilty pleas of Howell Asphalt Co., Virgil R. Howell and H. H. Mass Construction Co., and the verdicts against J. L. Simmons Co. Inc., and Sangamo Construction Co. are part of Scott's case in his civil triple-damage actions.

In the two suits filed last week, Scott charged that, because of the two conspiracies engaged in by the 10 defendants, prices of federally-assisted highway construction in Illinois have been "fixed, maintained and established at high, artificial and non-competitive levels."

Scott also charged that the bid rigging denied the state the right to receive sealed, competitive bids and the benefits of free and open competition in construction of the federally aided highways in Illinois.

Named as defendants in one of the suits filed last week were Sangamo Construction of Springfield and J. L. Simmons Co. of Chicago.

In the second suit, the defendants named were Howell Asphalt and its president, Virgil R. Howell, of Mattoon; J. L. Simmons Co. of Chicago; H. H. Mass Construction Co., Algonquin; Interstate Engineering Service, Mattoon; Johnston Roadbuilders of Joliet; Payne & Dolan of Wisconsin, Inc., of Milwaukee; Rein, Schultz & Dahl, Inc., of Madison, Wis.; and University Asphalt Co., Inc., of Urbana.

The first suit, naming two defendants, relates to Items 8, 9 and 35 on the June 23, 1970, bid letting.

Item 8 involved 10.93 miles of 22-foot-width bituminous concrete resurfacing on U.S. Route 54 (FA Route 161) from the Logan-DeWitt County line to Clinton. Contract price was $469,577.

Item 9 consisted of 6.41 miles of bituminous concrete base course widening and 10.10 miles of 26-ft. and variable foot width bituminous concrete resurfacing on Illinois Route 10 from the DeWitt-Logan County line to west of Clinton. Contract price was $737,653.

Item 35 involved 6.58 miles of bituminous concrete base course widening, 24-ft. and 36-ft. bituminous concrete resurfacing on Illinois Route 128 from Cowden southerly to Illinois Route 33 and then on

Airman chosen for early promotion

Stephen A. Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Connolly, 2712 Saratoga Ave., has been specially identified for early promotion to senior airman in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Connolly was awarded the new rating by a "below-the-zone" promotion board which considered job performance, military knowledge, bearing and self improvement efforts.

Being selected "below-the-zone" means that the individual has been awarded the senior airman stripe up to six months in advance of normal promotion eligibility. Competition in this category is highly competitive and reserved for only those airmen who excel on the job and are recommended by their unit commanders.

The airman is a food services specialist at Francis E. Warren AFB, Wyo., and serves with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

Airman Connolly graduated in 1970 from Assumption High School, East St. Louis, and attended St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kan.

Illinois Route 33 to Beecher City (FA Route 174). The contract price: $575,101.

Maybe you don't make a $3,000 loan every day, but we do.

Actually, that's just a middle-size loan for us these days. We make some for less. And a lot for a lot more.

So we're not a "small-loan" company, but a large loan center. And a good one.

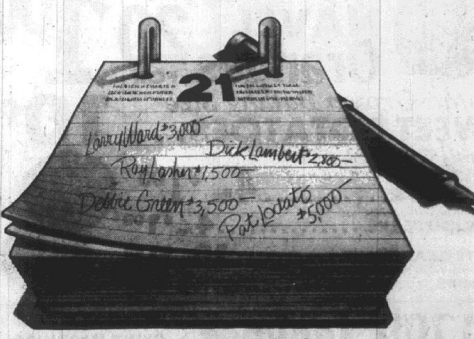

Homeowner loans, too. When you're after really large amounts, the equity in your home is a valuable asset. You can use that equity to back very sizable loans from us. And that's nice to know.

Next time you want money, whatever the reason, think of us. If you're more comfortable feeling you can depend on us for small loans, we really don't mind. Because you can.

But remember, we mostly think big.

Public school revenue request near $2 billion

In major actions at its meeting Thursday, the State Board of Education approved a budget recommendation for fiscal 1977-78, accepted three school desegregation plans and found another district in non-compliance. It also chose officers for two-year terms.

The budget request was for $1,958,000,000, to finance elementary, secondary and vocational education.

A tentative request presented to the board on Dec. 13 was revised slightly to bolster bilingual education by an additional $1.7 million but to hold costs of a new deaf-blind education center to $1.38 million, the same funding level as in fiscal 1976-77.

The budget includes increases over last year for special education, vocational and regular pupil transportation, and $2 million for desegregation assistance to metropolitan area school districts.

If approved by the legislature and the governor, it would fully fund all mandated state formula programs.

The State Board of Education is mandated by the 1970 State Constitution to make recommendations to the governor and legislature on the needs and programs for the school children of Illinois.

reported Budget Chairman Donald Truitt. "After months of study, we believe this is the funding needed to meet them."

Desegregation plans of Batavia School District 161, Bellwood District 88 and East St. Louis District 189 were accepted.

However, the school district of Maywood 89 was found in non-compliance for failure to submit an acceptable plan. The non-compliance findings will result in the district being placed on probationary recognition within 30 days. The probationary status does not withdraw state funds from the districts. It does, however, "flash a red light," according to State Superintendent Joseph Cronin. "That steps need to be taken to correct deficiencies or the district can be given nonrecognition status — and funds withdrawn — in the following year."

Dr. Cronin had words of praise for the efforts of all school districts, totaling 80 in all, which have minority students in numbers that require monitoring and review. "Forty districts took steps to solve any racial segregation problem in years past," he said. "Forty were left for this state board to review."

Donna Schillinger weds Ronald Earl Brasfield

St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Donna Jene Schillinger and Army Private Ronald Earl Brasfield on Dec. 26.

Christmas lights, a decorated tree and arrangements of red and white poinsettias banking the altar provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey.

Prior to the service soloist Tony Wallis, sang "Follow Me" and "My Sweet Lady."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Schillinger, 845 Thorgate Drive. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brasfield, 2834 Dogwood Drive.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father, the bride, chose a full length cape featuring a bodice of Venice lace, etched with pearls and long sheer sleeves of daron satin pea.

The fitted waistline was accented with a four tiered gathered skirt.

She wore a Venice lace Juliet cap enhanced with satin ribbon to secure a chapel length veil trimmed with matching lace and pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of Samatha red roses interspersed with fresh holly and festooned with ivory streamers.

Matron of honor Mrs. Kathy Schillinger, a sister-in-law of the bride, selected a formal dress of burgandy double knit fashioned with an ivory lace yoke and belt, complemented with an ivory picture hat with burgandy streamers.

She held an ivory lace fan with an arrangement of pink Sweetheart roses and pink satin bows attached.

Penny Sue Tingley, the flower girl, was dressed in a pink double knit frock designed to match the bride's gown, and she carried a nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses encircled with lace.

The groom chose Douglas Grace as best man. David Schillinger, a brother of the bride, Steve and Walter Brasfield, the groom's brothers and Danny Lawrence, served as ushers.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the service with Miss Eddie Schillinger, a sister of the bride, attending the guest book. Also assisting with the reception was Mrs. Pat

Hall, the bride's sister, Pat Wallis, and Paula and Karla Meyer, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schillinger, wore a silver gray blouse with a skirt in beige, off-white, blue and gray hues and an off white blazer. The groom's mother, Mrs. Brasfield, wore a white dress with silver gray gown designed with bell sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of white Sweetheart roses and pink bows. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home on the evening before the ceremony.

The newly married couple toured Mississippi and Tennessee as a wedding trip and the former Miss Schillinger is residing with her parents while her husband completes a tour of duty in Korea. The bride is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Trade adjustment assistance sought

The Labor Department has initiated a series of investigations to determine whether workers at 32 plants in five states are eligible to apply for trade adjustment assistance.

Petitions for adjustment assistance under the Trade Act of 1974 were filed with the department during the period Dec. 15-27 on behalf of workers at the following companies and plant locations with the estimated number of workers (where available) and the products listed:

Laclede Steel Co., Alton, wire products and pipes.

Laclede Steel Co., Madison, wire products and pipes.

National Steel Corp., Granite City, 600 workers, carbon and alloy.

The Labor Department's investigations — which must be completed within 90 days — will seek to determine whether increased imports contributed importantly to the unemployment of a significant number of workers engaged in the production of the listed products.

If so, the department may certify that the affected workers are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance. Assistance to workers under the Trade Act of 1974 may include cash trade readjustment allowances, training, testing, counseling, job placement, job search grants and relocation allowances.

Death from pneumonia

A coroner's jury Thursday afternoon declared that the death of Danyell L. Browning, 4½ months old of 1911 Sixth St., Madison, on Dec. 23 was due to natural causes.

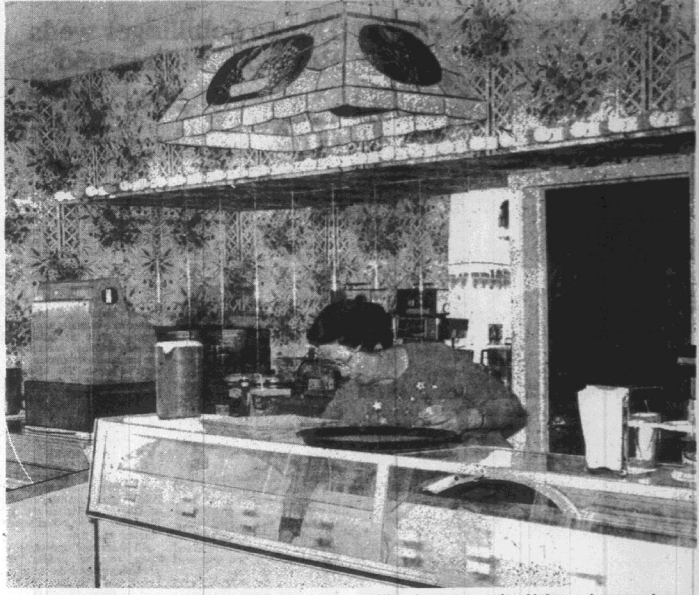

The infant died in her bed that evening after running a high fever for nearly two days. An autopsy indicated she died of bronchial pneumonia in her right lung and a mild cerebral edema.

Madison County Deputy Coroner David Partney, who conducted the inquest, read reports which indicated the child had been taken to the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:30 p.m. Dec. 27 and was released after the cause of the fever could not be determined.

The mother, June E. Browning, took her at 3 p.m. Dec. 26 to a doctor who released her after a limited examination, according to Partney's report, which he said was based on conversations with the child's mother.

At 10:30 p.m. Dec. 28, the mother was giving the child sponge baths to try and reduce the temperature and left the room for a moment to answer the telephone. When she returned, the child had stopped breathing, she related. She then called police and an ambulance. Ambulance personnel administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while enroute to the hospital, but were unable to find signs of life.

At the hospital, emergency room personnel worked 30 minutes attempting to revive the child before she was declared dead.

Suspect jailed, treated

Granite City police arrested Dennis Lynn Coleman, 28, of 3303 Kirkpatrick Homes, at home at 3:25 p.m. Saturday and reinstated a burglary charge against him.

He allegedly was arrested inside the Wagon Wheel Restaurant at 3007 Edwardsville Road May 13 and was charged at that time with burglary. Police suspended the charge when Coleman agreed to enter a rehabilitation program, they said.

Officers reinstated the charge last week for alleged non-attendance and a warrant for Coleman's arrest was issued. He was taken at 5:25 p.m. Saturday to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of an illness and was returned to jail at 7 p.m.

At 4 a.m. Sunday, officers alleged finding him hanging from his socks, tied around his neck, with the other end tied to a top rail bar. He was brought down, apparently in good condition, and was returned to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Bobby J. Leek dies at 41

Bobby J. Leek, 41, of 2207 East 20th St., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 12:30 p.m. Sunday at John Cochran Veteran's Hospital, St. Louis. He had been ill seven years and hospitalized eight days.

Mr. Leek was born in Holla, Mo. He served 16 years with the U.S. Army. His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Leek, died Nov. 15, 1970. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Beulah) Leek and a sister, Mrs. James (Pat) Bussone, all of Granite City. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

FIRE IN BEDROOM

A fire at 3:25 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mrs. Barbara Holiday, 1718 Chestnut St., did an estimated $1,800 damage to the structure and $400 to the contents. The fire started in the back bedroom of the house and is believed to have been started by children playing with matches, according to a fire department spokesman. Firemen from the West Granite fire station were at the scene nearly two hours.

FIRE'S DAMAGE CARS

Madison volunteer firemen extinguished two cars Friday, the first at 4:58 p.m. in the 1700 block of Sixth Street in Madison where a short-circuit in the electrical wiring started a fire in the auto of Kevin Gage, 213 Granville St., and the second at 10:15 p.m. Friday where a car battery backfire was believed responsible for starting a fire in the car of Jake Young at Second and Madison Avenue.

Man who refuses identity arrested in stolen car

Granite City police are attempting to determine the identity of a man in jail for allegedly being found in possession of a stolen auto after a police chase at 9:50 p.m. Friday. The chase ended when the stolen car struck a utility pole.

Officers said the man refused during the weekend to give his name and he was booked under the name "John Doe." Identification papers in his possession were alleged to have been stolen from a Riverview, Mich., man Sept. 7.

Today, he gave detectives the name of a "Clarkville, Tenn." man and officers are checking to determine if that identity is correct. They alleged the man in custody admitted he was an escapee from a county jail in Tennessee and saved his way through the bars on a window with a hacksaw to escape.

Amvets Auxiliary reviews projects

Final reports of projects conducted during the holiday season by members of Amvets Auxiliary Unit 51 were reviewed last week at a business meeting. A total of 140 gifts was delivered to the Madison County Nursing and Shelter Care homes by Unit 51 members. Gloria Brockman, Division 5 president, and Jackie Petras, state sergeant-at-arms.

Melba Manning, unit junior vice-president, purchased and wrapped the gifts, aided by Mrs. Petras, it was announced. Mr. Leek was born in Holla, Mo. He served 16 years with the U.S. Army. His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Leek, died Nov. 15, 1970. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Beulah) Leek and a sister, Mrs. James (Pat) Bussone, all of Granite City. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Other benefit projects of the local auxiliary included preparation and delivery of holiday gift baskets to veterans and their families in need. Mrs. Trudy McGowan, president, announced.

A family day and social activity was planned for Feb. 12 to celebrate Valentine's Day. A new "king" and "queen" will be chosen and crowned, replacing the retiring royal, Tom McGowan and Mrs. Petras. Mrs. Young led the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. Petras gave a prayer to open the business session.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Brockman and Mrs. Petras, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilkins, hostess. The next meeting was scheduled for Jan. 26 at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Pontoon board hires police dispatcher

Mary Beth Duke, Holiday Mobile Home Park, was hired by the Pontoon Beach Village Board Thursday night as a police dispatcher, replacing Dispatcher James Laughlin who resigned Jan. 15 to join the U.S. Marine Corps.

She will be paid under the Madison County Manpower program.

The board also passed ordinances prohibiting criminal trespass and theft in the village. The ordinances are an attempt to bring more fine money into the village by having local ordinances, rather than using the state ordinances where the fines go to the county.

The fines for criminal trespass are set at $25 to $200, and fines for theft are $25 to $500 for the first offense and $200 to $500 for each subsequent conviction.

The board approved advertising for bids on health and welfare insurance for village employees and for an auditor to conduct the annual audit of the village books for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1977.

On the recommendation of Zoning Administrator Carl Hackney, the board granted a variance to Pontoon Baptist Church, 4006 Pontoon Road, of the set-back requirements so an addition to the church can be constructed.

Firemen were called at 6:25 p.m. Sunday to the Pancake House Restaurant, 1500 Pontoon Road, but a minor fire near a furnace area was out upon their arrival. No damage was done.

Talks in progress on providing more ambulance service

Current talks between city officials and Bob Thomas Jr. of the Thomas Ambulance Service recall earlier meetings in which Frank Mercer, formerly of Mercer Ambulance, proposed a major revision of emergency ambulance services.

Citing expanded training, equipping and manning requirements, Mercer predicted that it would become financially impractical for private firms — mortuaries or ambulance companies — to provide an adequate level of ambulance services.

While no specific replacement proposal was devised, those contacted included units of local and county government, St. Elizabeth Hospital and fire departments. It was noted that Collinsville firemen provided ambulance service.

Several Quad-City funeral homes joined in the discussions and later phased out.

most of their emergency ambulance activity.

Thomas and others continued ambulance service, but one firm has since gone out of business. Thomas acquired the Mercer holdings and now has called attention to problems associated with its available manpower and the volume of emergency calls.

All parties agreed that the busy Quad-City area's ambulance needs exceed those that are being provided.

To attempt to solve the shortage through use of government employees could be costly to taxpayers, but the alternative of inadequate service is unacceptable. Traffic Committee recommendations on the subject will be awaited with great interest.

Agency streamlining sought in Illinois as well as U. S.

Jimmy Carter will become President on Thursday, with what he regards as a mandate to reorganize and streamline the executive branch of the federal government. Even before the Presidential inauguration, it appears that Illinois may be "getting in on the act."

A task force yesterday proposed that the state set up consolidated departments on administrative services, agriculture-business, emergency services, environmental protection, health services, labor, law enforcement, natural resources, regulation, revenue, social services and transportation.

Budget planning would be coordinated, and added duties would be vested in the office of state treasurer. The State Board of Education would continue its policymaking for elementary and secondary schools, and the Board of Higher Education would gain added power over university boards.

Specifics will need to be evaluated in detail, but the general objective of more responsible and accountable state government is attractive enough to prompt fair and thorough study.

Compulsory Social Security urged for public employees

Press-Record Washington Bureau — A number of state and local governments are deserting the Social Security ship. But the number of deserters in 1976 was relatively few, only 45,000 employees actually withdrawn, and the trend seems to have turned.

On sober second thought, local and state officials who have considered withdrawing are changing their minds and deciding that it is not in the best interest of their employees or the general public for public employees to quit the Social Security system.

Congress should withdraw the option of dropping out, which was given to public employees in 1951 when they first were given the opportunity to join the Social Security system.

The Social Security system is not bankrupt. It is not in danger of imminent financial collapse. And it is not a bad buy for most public employees in the long run, considering all the special features of Social Security, such as disability and survivor benefits, Medicare and automatic cost-of-living increases.

These are the conclusions reached recently by nationally recognized independent actuaries and experts in employee compensation plans.

They advise Congress to make Social Security coverage compulsory for public employees, in the interest of all parties concerned.

Carter — a good ol' boy to the cause of male liberation?

Press-Record Washington Bureau — Harry Truman popularized the morning walk and draw poker. Dwight Eisenhower played golf behind the White House. John Kennedy raised the status of touch football.

Lyndon Johnson liked to ride horses, and occasionally pull dogs up by their ears. Richard Nixon liked to bowl. President Ford is a bit with ski boots.

Maybe it's too soon to look for Jimmy Carter's off-duty trademark, but we can note that he likes hunting and fishing — and to carry his own luggage.

What intrigues us most, however, is that the next occupant of the White House is given to wearing jeans and boots whenever he can avoid the necessity of wearing something more formal.

This could give an unusual stamp to the Carter presidency, and even portend a sartorial breakthrough for the American male.

If Mr. Carter manages to overturn the rule that business has to be conducted in coat-and-tie, he may be a shoe-in for reelection — thanks to the solid support of liberated males throughout the country.

To the Editor: I just wanted to write to thank you for the lovely article in your paper Dec. 16 about our daughter, Tammy (Tamara Renee Hinchey).

Needless to say, she was very proud of her picture on the front page with Santa Claus.

(The five-year-old girl died on Christmas Day.)

The article touched many people very deeply. The Glenwood Hospital staff was especially touched.

I cried a lot when I read it, but no one could have expressed it any better than you did.

The response and help were too numerous to send cards to everyone. We sincerely appreciate everyone's kindness.

No nepotism for state secretaries

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Alan Dixon as secretary of state will have a policy of hiring no one more than one member from a family.

Under Dixon's plan, a person will not be hired if his mother, father, spouse, son, daughter, brother or sister already works there.

The plan will not be retroactive; current employees will be protected by a grandfather clause as long as they do satisfactory work. For example, if a husband and wife both work there now, neither will be hired.

In the future, though, if a husband and wife both apply, only one of them will be hired.

The idea is not new. Political veterans will remember the days when there was an unwritten rule in government that only one member of a family could have a political job.

Illinois General Assembly, by law, prohibits members from hiring a spouse, parent, grandparent, aunt, uncle, brother, sister, first cousin, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, daughter-in-law.

The one employer-employee family rule largely disappeared with the growth of government and the increase in the number of workers' wives. (If any opposition does develop to Dixon's plan, it would probably come from the feminist movement which would argue it was discriminatory.)

One reason the policy will probably be popular is that too many persons know of abuses in the patronage system.

Some persons who obtain offices where they have no right to hire whom they want have relatives line up at the trough. One former official, for example, had a staff of 40 or so and six of them were relatives!

U.S. Rep. Jim Wright, the new majority leader, is taking heat now because of the widespread publicity about his wife working for the Congress.

Dixon, of course, is a savvy veteran. But in the past he hasn't had to deal with many sensitive patronage problems. As a state legislator he had no office to administer and as treasurer only 98 employees work for him.

With the oath of office he inherits 3,600 employees and a staff of 100 or more.

The secretary of state's office traditionally has been thought of as patronage rich. When a Democrat replaced a Republican, you could expect a change in personnel, a new division of the office.

This practice reached a peak in 1970 upon the death of Democrat Paul Powell. When John Lewis, a Republican, took the office he swept out the Democrats.

Thousands of Republicans, Lewis then attempted to protect the Republicans by the personnel code.

Dozens of lawsuits were filed and the cases have bounced around in the courts for years. One thing has become clear: the U.S. Supreme Court thinks the firing of a rank-and-file employee for political reasons is illegal.

In a case applying specifically to the secretary of state's office (the Borer case), the courts ruled Lewis' attempt to place the employees under the code was legal. However, the court ruled Lewis' method of doing so was not proper.

In a ruling which applied to some 2,000 non-professional positions, the courts ruled that qualifying examinations given to Lewis employees and open competitive examinations given to the public were identical in all respects except passing scores. When the courts ruled the same passing score must apply to all, 50 per cent of the Lewis employees failed.

Approximately 800 other employees were affected by the same court ruling.

Although legislation failed concerning a personnel code for the office, Nolan Jones, director of the Department of Personnel, said previously that the personnel code would be placed under the code soon.

They are not the first employees of the office to be placed under the code. It began in 1965 with library employees, and was later extended to include computer and security personnel.

Thus, when the complicated code decisions are implemented, only the buildings and grounds and front office employees (approximately 300 total) will be exempt from the code.

Cold to continue

The bitter cold is to continue through Wednesday, according to the National Weather Service, which forecast a warming trend for Thursday and Friday.

A chance of light snow is predicted for tonight and a chance of snow or rain is forecast for late Thursday night.

The weather service said the high temperature today will range between zero and 10 above, with a low tonight of five to 10 below zero. The high tomorrow should be about five above.

A low of about zero is predicted Wednesday with a high around 20, followed by a warming trend that could send the high temperature Thursday to 30. The high Friday is expected to be about 30.

Paddlers will meet Thursday

Election of five directors and 13 changes in bylaws are on the agenda for the 28th annual meeting of Paddlers, Inc., at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the St. Elizabeth Church cafeteria.

Pontoon and Johnson Roads. Board nominees for three years are Bob Becherer, Tom Bridick, Don Lane, Gayle McCormick and Lee Suarez.

It is proposed to elect Jerry Range and Harold Becherer to one-year nominating committee terms.

The group operates swimming pools at 2121 Johnson Road.

Proposed bylaw revisions include setting the number of active members of the club at 450.

STOPS BURGLARY TRY

A woman employee working at 1:35 a.m. Saturday halted a burglary attempt at the Taco Bandit Restaurant in Bellemeville Shopping Center by yelling at the man, who immediately fled.

The employee said she heard a loud banging at the rear door and when she checked, she saw a man holding something in his hands. She asked what he wanted and the man left. Police were called and found three pry marks on the rear door.

Economic stimulus plan likely to pass

By LESTER BELL

Washington Bureau Press-Record President-elect Jimmy Carter will get a two-year economic stimulus program through the 95th Congress controlled by Democrats, Illinois members in both parties agree.

Carter and his advisors announced a $25 billion to $32 billion two-year, package in Plains, Ga.

"It sounds good to me," said Melvin Price, D-23rd Dist., dean of the delegation, in an interview last week.

"I'm pretty sure Congress will have to pass it. Whether all or not, I can't say."

Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th Dist., said "It's the kind of package that will pass readily."

Simon calls the Carter proposal "good for a starter," but the Democrats would like a more comprehensive program looking at the deep-seated problems of welfare and unemployment.

"I think he's got the troops," said Rep. Paul Findley, R-20th Dist., a senior Republican. "It's almost sure to go through."

Termining himself a "pay-as-you-go person," Findley said he is troubled that the Carter package "represents a huge debt" that will be "shifted to the next generation to bail out this one."

Rep. George M. O'Brien, R-17th Dist. and Rep. Robert McClory, R-13th Dist., support spending on public works as stimulus to useful and needed development.

Both said public works under President Ford have been "valuable" in their districts.

O'Brien said his district is probably second only to Cook County in Illinois in getting such projects approved. McClory singled out a new village hall for Carpentersville and a library annex in Elgin for mention.

"I'm wary of the tax rebate," said McClory. "It's too little and it will not stimulate much of anything. He views it as a 'ploy' — a 'gesture' to low-income earners."

O'Brien, on the other hand, thought rebates "might give a little kick" to the economy in 1977.

Rep. John N. Erlenbom, R-14th Dist., said he may support Carter "to give him a chance to see if he can do it."

"If he can't do it," Erlenbom quipped, "then I can say it's not my fault."

Rep. Henry J. Hyde, R-6th Dist., said "the one-shot rebate is just that; it's nothing people can plan on or invest or save."

Hyde said the nation's economic problems require

Volunteers needed at county home

To the Editor:

I am currently president of the Macoupin County Nursing Home Auxiliary and we are in need of volunteers for many jobs that can help our residents remain active and interested in the outside world.

These volunteers help provide for all three little extras over and above the normal, everyday routine for the residents. Currently we have approximately 100 residents in the County Home.

Among the many duties which the regular nursing staff does not have time to provide are: writing letters; reading to patients; transportation to special events; help with parties; taking patients for walks, rides, tours or picnics. Taking patients to church, outdoor activity, craft assistants; playing a musical instrument; vocal talent for singalongs which the residents thoroughly enjoy; group discussions, painting; showing slides and films; grooming and etiquette assistants; and a wide range of other activities. The auxiliary is sponsoring an orientation program on Tuesday, Feb. 15, from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. to acquaint prospective volunteers with the nursing home and some of the jobs which may be helpful when working with the residents.

In order to volunteer your time, it is not necessary that you join the auxiliary, although we welcome any new members.

Dues are $1 per year for an active membership and $10 per year for a contributing membership.

I ask all interested persons to attend the above program or, if further information is needed, to contact me.

Proposes vans with wheelchair lifts

To the Editor:

Government spending and Dureau's theory have a lot in common. They operate on the survival of the fittest.

Government provides and repairs roads for persons who are able to drive automobiles. Governing bodies also provide trains, planes and buses for ambulatory people.

This is all well and good. It's even good that they find the money for special vehicles such as street sweepers, snow scrapers and fog blowers.

If one is really especially fit, one might enjoy government-funded boat docks, ski lifts, horseback trails, snowmobile trails, hiking trails, swimming pools or hunting preserves.

—If one is a senior citizen or blind, thank goodness there is transportation for them.

Thank goodness there is money for parks and recreation equipment and animal control trucks and garbage trucks.

Maybe, someday, wheelchair victims will be important enough to transport.

Maybe some mayor, senator, congressman, county board member, township supervisor, governor or president will find it respectable to support such a charitable program.

Perhaps some club or organization may choose to select the physically deprived as a project and purchase a van with a wheelchair lift, or campaign for such a public service.

After the playgrounds, dogs, cat and garbage, it does seem out turn.

Dare we hope for liberation for the physically deprived?

Don't begrudge pay to policemen

To the Editor:

In the interest of fairness, this city owes our patrolmen their back pay for roll call and briefings.

Those briefings enable our patrolmen to work on our problems 24 hours a day.

Why should we begrudge them 15 minutes pay when they might be getting a description of a runaway daughter or a stolen car or a thief who ransacked our home?

These men have a dangerous job and they are underpaid as it is.

Put a price on the sickening feeling they get in their stomach when they step out of their car on a call that could mean they won't see tomorrow.

What would readers consider fair pay to step out of an office or factory and into their shoes?

Adequate road crew trucks needed

To the Editor:

In reply to an article concerning the refusal of the Chouteau Town Board officers to purchase a dump truck, who is more qualified on the need for equipment for our township?

The auditors or our highway commissioner, Jim Estes?

Also, there are only four trucks owned by the township.

One is 17 years old, one is 13 years old and one is 11 years old.

Repair bills are high due to the age of these trucks. It is almost impossible to find some parts, especially new parts, and this can leave a truck out of commission for days.

Anyone owning cars or trucks can realize the expense of repairing older models.

If there is a surplus of money in another budget, why can't it be transferred for roads and equipment?

The government allots money for community improvements. This money and equipment belongs to us, the taxpayers of Chouteau Township.

Death penalty bills in state legislature

By RAY SERATI

SPRINGFIELD — Several bills seeking to reinstate the Illinois death penalty were pre-filed in the new 86th General Assembly.

Under Illinois law a legislator can pre-file a bill nearly a month prior to the start of a new General Assembly.

Attempts to pass a death penalty bill in the fall session of the General Assembly failed. The bill passed the House, where it was sponsored by Reps. George E. Sangmeister, D-Mokena and Roman J. Kosinski, D-Chicago. However, the measure got hung up in the Senate.

Sangmeister and Kosinski in past months have been trying to get the legislation through the General Assembly.

House Judiciary Committee held hearings throughout the state dealing with death penalty legislation.

Kosinski pre-filed the same bill in the House. In the Senate, Sen. Robert J. Egan, D-Chicago filed a bill. He was the Senate sponsor of the Sangmeister-Kosinski bill.

Sangmeister has been elected to the Senate for the 86th General Assembly and presumably the former Will County State's Attorney either will file his own bill or join in co-sponsorship of one measure.

Basically, all the bills would provide for a death sentence in several categories of crime. Most of the categories are the same.

They range from killing of a fireman, policeman or prison guard, while on duty, to capital murder during a forcible felony.

Extensive hearings are expected in both judiciary committees. Sponsors of the bills already have indicated they want early action.

But since this is a new General Assembly coming up the complexion of the committees will change. There also may be new chairmen. This could have a major bearing on how soon the committees act on the legislation.

Opponents of the bills along with proponents are expected to mount heavy campaigns.

Proponents point out that in the 1970 constitutional election voters, when asked about the death penalty in a side issue, voted overwhelmingly to restore it in Illinois.

With recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings on the death penalty, the drive to win passage of the legislation has received new vigor.

Not only will legislation get a boost, but so will the so-called anti-crime legislation in the 86th General Assembly.

Family escapes early morning blaze; owner stricken, hospitalized

Malcolm Wallace, 47, of 1229 Edwardsville Road, suffered chest pains during a fire at his home early Saturday and was admitted to the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital. The fire gutted his home and caused an estimated $22,000 damage.

A wood-burning stove in the basement of the home overheated and started a fire in the basement of the one-story home at 4:30 a.m. Saturday and Wallace had to break a window to get his family out of the house. He told hospital authorities he had to jump out the window to escape the fire.

When firemen arrived, the family was on the front porch and the flames had completely involved the basement and were entering the living room through a hole burned in the floor above the wood-burning stove.

Firefighters noted the home had a furnace, but the wood-burning stove served to provide extra heat to bedrooms in the basement. The fire spread to the interior walls, but was extinguished before it burned through the roof. All of the contents in the basement and most of the contents in the living area were destroyed.

Damages were estimated at $15,000 to the $22,000 house and $7,000 to its contents.

Wallace watched the firefighting efforts two and one-half hours before suffering chest pains about 7 a.m. Saturday. He was then taken to the hospital.

Firefighting efforts continued through 9:30 a.m. and it was 9:40 a.m. before all hoses were rolled up and fire trucks returned to their stations.

Plan unit delays meet

A regularly scheduled meeting of the Granite City Plan Commission was postponed Thursday due to inclement weather and is to be held Thursday, Jan. 20, at 1:15 p.m. at the city offices, 2301 Adams St.

Among the requests to be considered is one for a permit to construct an Arthur Treacher's Fish & Chips store on Namecki Road.

At a meeting of the Granite

City Board of Appeals last week, the board recommended that John M. Juhász Jr. be allowed to construct a new home with an attached garage 20 feet from the Maryville Road property line at 2559 Emert Ave. The law requires 25 feet, unless an appeal is approved. The recommendation of the Board of Appeals will be given to the Granite City Council for consideration tomorrow evening.

Arrested twice in two hours

Peter Hans Wirtz, 28, of 2004 Washington Ave., was arrested twice at his home in a two-hour span Thursday and faces a charge of battery and a felony count of unlawful possession of marijuana.

Police first were called to the Wirtz home at 6 p.m. Thursday when Mrs. Marsha Wirtz alleged her husband had struck her left jaw with his fist, bruising her jaw. She signed a complaint alleging battery.

Wirtz was taken to the Granite City Police Department where he was released at 8:55 p.m. Thursday after posting $50 bond.

Officers were recalled to the home at 8 p.m. for a disturbance and alleged they found the Wirtz couple arguing.

Police followed them into the living room, where they said Mrs. Wirtz picked up a brown paper bag containing some of her husband's possessions and dumped the contents of the bag on the floor.

Police alleged five bags of marijuana were among the items which fell out. Wirtz was again arrested and charged with possession of marijuana.

Police said they weighed the marijuana at 1.100 grams, nearly two and one-half pounds.

Checkbook can reveal character

By REV. W. LEE TRUMAN

Bob Weirbach is a salesman, but very discontent. He has changed firms often, moving from one line of merchandise to another looking for that special something which people would buy. How can you tell? Bob doesn't know a fundamental truth about his fellowman.

There are a lot of us who are named Mr. Average. Mr. Average does not want to buy anything, so every commodity on the shelf, and every service offered must be sold. Mr. Average wants to hold onto his money.

I am quite certain that it will someday be proven that the most sensitive nerve in the body of man is the pocketbook. Buying means parting with money. And money is the means to security, freedom, status and a host of other items all of us desire.

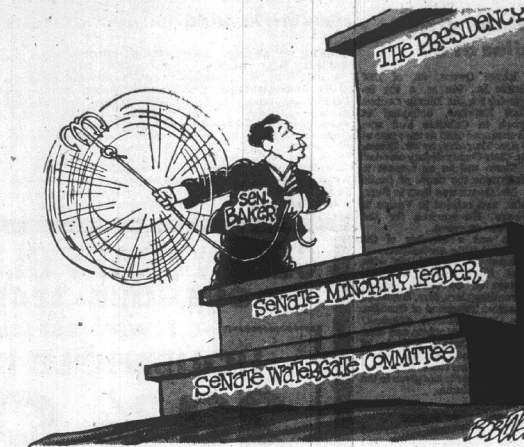

Somewhere in history I am sure the following scene took place. Several millions of years ago when shells were used for currency, old Peter Primitive had the biggest pile in the countryside. He stacked them neatly in his family cave where he could count them often and kept them neat and straight. When a salesman came around peddling dinosaur hides, Pete would look and admire.

"How much?" he would ask.

"Only ten smooth shells or one shell a month for eleven months," said the salesman, "and be sure Pete, I would not sell this hide to my own sister for a shell less."

Peter would look at the hide and then at his pile of shells. He would recall how hard he had worked to gather them, and how handy they were. While thinking these things he would slowly shake his head deciding to make the old hide do for another season, and hang onto his smooth shells.

Human nature has not

Listening says — 'love you'

By MARION WELLS

When was the last time you were talking away from the phone and suddenly realized the line had gone dead?

Such communications hang-ups happen in marriage, too. Joe Venema, Ph.D., clinical psychologist and clinical adjunct professor, School of Psychology, Fuller Theological Seminary, considers this one of the major barriers to a good marriage.

If your spouse thinks you aren't listening, Venema said in an interview, this can carry a powerful message: "You don't care about me. I can't be important to you if my feelings and concerns aren't."

Lack of caring may not be the major problem, however. Often a couple can improve such "bad connections" by developing better listening techniques. Dr. Venema shared a few suggestions which may help unjam the lines of communication:

1. There's more to listening than meets the ear. It involves paying attention to the whole person. How your spouse sits, the set of his jaw and what he does with his hands may tell you even more about how he feels than the words he says. "Body language" is very important.

2. Anything important enough to distract your eyes or attention needs to be temporarily laid aside. You need to really "attend" to the other person.

3. Listening also requires putting aside your own agenda for awhile. How can you give someone else your full attention when you're planning a rebuttal?

4. Listen for feelings as well as content. Dr. Venema urges. Feelings are very vulnerable.

changed very much. Few persons will buy unless someone convinces them that what they are offered is more money to them than the money required to purchase it. That is the heart and soul of advertising. It is the ground a bargain hunter stands on.

Money is your time, talent or tradable form. In short, money is power. That is why, in large sums or small, people like to handle their own money, and make their own decisions about how it is to be used. This is why a man's checkbook will be more revealing about his character, purpose and life direction than any autobiography he may write, or whatever he says to the contrary.

That is why so many widows reject the horrible income provision on insurance policies. The husband had handled the money, and the wife never had very much to spend beyond home needs. She now wants to experience the power and feeling of the responsibility of handling a substantial sum.

Understanding how people feel about money helped Bob in his career and also in his marriage. He and his wife now save and have pledged to hold their church and to the United Fund. He said that part about his checkbook revealing his character reached him and he didn't want to have his biographers saying he loved God more than his church.

trial in a marriage. Can you help each other verbally identify or "label" how you feel?

5. An active, involved listener does a lot of talking. He uses words to "mirror back" what he thinks the other is communicating. This permits correction of errors: "Is what I heard really what your partner meant?"

It also sends a message back to the speaker: "This person is really trying to hear what I'm saying." Further sharing is encouraged.

"Listening to somebody means getting inside of their experiencing," Venema added. "It means checking out how they feel about an issue, instead of projecting your experience onto them. The goal of empathy is to understand and value the other person's feelings and opinions as well as you know your own."

Such communication builds trust between people, Venema says. "I trust you to care as much about how I feel as about how you feel."

Venema believes listening alone is not enough to close the communications gap. "We also need to send clear messages."

"If we get married, we discover there's a lot of ourselves we've long ago learned to hide," he continued. "Some of us hide our feelings of sadness. When we're hurting, we withdraw. Our partner wonders, 'What did I do?'"

Venema hastens to add that sometimes secrets in marriage are OK. "In marriage we work toward deeper sharing. We also don't try to argue each other out of our feelings. We respect and accept them ... and work from there."

LOOT SLEEPING ROOMS

The sleeping rooms of two truck drivers at 1008 State St. Madison, were entered and looted while the drivers slept. Sunday Donald Rooker, Waverly, Mo., reported his wallet, $160 cash, a shirt and pants and personal papers had been stolen from his room. ## Perfume allergy is found often

By WILLIAM J. GOLDWAG, M.D.

Q. In the past year suddenly realized that the reactions I was getting were due to the strong perfumes in the office. Thirty years ago I was violently reacting to the serum for allergies. Now, because of the closeness of the people in the office and strong perfumes I find myself getting dizzy, getting hot and cold, shaking, crying, losing my temper and once fainted. My eyes swell and I can't catch my breath. I am afraid to sing solos in church because someone near me may be wearing the perfumes to which I am allergic. I find myself yawning a lot to be able to breathe.

Is there a common ingredient in different perfumes for which I may be tested? I have called three allergists and each one says there is no test for perfumes. My temper and once fainted. My eyes swell and I can't catch my breath. I am afraid to sing solos in church because someone near me may be wearing the perfumes to which I am allergic. I find myself yawning a lot to be able to breathe.

Perfumes are made from a variety of ingredients, but it is the ones which are volatile (vaporize at room temperature) that can affect others who inhale it. The best true test of whether or not you react to them is to inhale a small quantity of various brands at different times while in your own environment. This will eliminate other factors such as crowded rooms or people very close which may themselves cause reactions in some people. Many common chemicals in the air can cause "strange" symptoms in persons sensitive to them. Cases are recorded of "irritable housewife's syndrome" responding to a change from gas stoves to electric heat. Headaches in children disappearing when they stop playing with "radioactive" toys. Many foods are capable of causing the same problems in susceptible individuals. Although your symptoms may be partly due to perfume sensitivity, the nature of them suggests that there may be other causes unrelated to the odors. The "sniff" test is the best one to check it out.

Q. I am a patient with Rheumatoid Arthritis. It is my understanding that this is a disease of the joints. A short time ago I had a severe eye infection. I was told that this was because of my arthritis. Can this be possible and if so, can it cause blindness in time?

A. Rheumatoid arthritis is more than just a disease of the joints. It is a systemic disease, that is, something goes wrong inside the body which ends up by usually affecting the joints. It can skip around to different joints and vary considerably in how severe it bothers them and how quickly it is relieved. It has a great many mysteries about it. It is often associated with skin changes, nail deformities and shows various changes in the blood stream.

Anemia, fever, high sedimentation rate (a measure of how fast the red blood cells settle out in a special kind of test tube) and other changes in blood protein concentrations are some of the abnormalities noted.

An inflammation of the colored part of the eye, called "iritis" can also occur during some phase of rheumatoid arthritis. Generally this inflammation can be controlled satisfactorily with special eye drops so that permanent effects on the vision are rare. Iritis can recur and may require long term therapy to keep it controlled. Because of the many uncertainties of arthritis, proper attention to all health factors such as diet, exercise and emotional stability become as important as medication in combating the disease.

Different views on arthritis

By JOHN T. WATTS

Dear John: I was reading your column. It was talking about an experience a lady by the name of Ruth Stout had. She found out she had arthritis and believed very special diet while she got very satisfactory results from.

Will you please place Ruth Stout's full address and zip code in your next column. I want very much to write her and ask her for her arthritis diet.

I have arthritis so very bad. I'm willing to try the diet. After all it's only fruits and nuts. It can't hurt anyone.

Mrs. Mary Taylor

Dear Mary:

As has been said here before, there are many kinds of arthritis. What will help one may not help another.

At any rate, Ruth Stout's address is simply West Redding, Conn. 06876. She said, however, that the diet consisted simply of pecans, bananas, brewer's yeast, wheat germ and avocados ... "plus anything else you want."

She said in a few days she abandoned her pills and heating pad, and in less than two weeks there was no more pain at all and has never been any since.

On the same subject, a few weeks ago we printed a letter from David Stry, Coahoma, Miss., who said, "Instead of self-help devices, why don't you tell your readers that fasting removes the causes. And the body tends to restore itself to normal when the causes of ill-health are removed."

We are now able to amplify Mr. Stry's statement: "So let us see if we can change some of the conventional thinking about the subject of arthritis. There seems to be two opposing viewpoints: the medical versus the nonmedical."

"The former either admits that disease is a great big mystery or that it is caused by various germs and/or viruses, while the latter group contends that disease (notice the hyphenation) is a consequence of the violation of nature's laws with respect to proper nutrition, sunshine, exercise, rest, mental attitudes, mechanical rightness, etc."

"I belong to the latter group, and I have personally written, pain disappeared, spine straightened, hands opened up, and many other symptoms left as if by magic. And, all while I felt what had tried almost everything: cortisone, gold shots, injections, hot bathing, mineral baths, toe stings, teeth extraction, and what not. Now let's get down to the basics of arthritis and gather the courage to change that which, thank heaven, we can still change. There are an estimated 13 million arthritic sufferers in the United States alone."

"Arthritis is not a direct killer like 'heart attacks' but an insidious degenerative disease, painful, crippling and destructively interfering with rest, sleep and mobility. "People have been taught to expect 'cures' to be complicated, involved, difficult. Actually, it is just the reverse. Simplicity itself. Remove causes and the human body heals itself from the inside."

"Let us reverse our direction on arthritis — or any other health problem. It's the simplicity of difficulties — or difficulties simplified — that is the only answer for those who seek guidance, to defy the body, rid it of morbid notions and normalize the blood chemistry, followed by a rational program of daily eating and living habits. This is the only answer for those who seem to have tried everything without noticeable results."

If you are an arthritic sufferer, the best program for getting well is to undertake a supervised fast, preferably at one of the institutions that offer this guidance, to defy the body, rid it of morbid notions and normalize the blood chemistry, followed by a rational program of daily eating and living habits. This is the only answer for those who seem to have tried everything without noticeable results."

Advice on operating fireplace dampers

By GENE GARY

Q. We have a fireplace with a damper and our friends have given us conflicting advice on closing the damper. Some say to close the damper, even if hot embers are left in the fireplace. They say if not, the chimney will draw the heat out of the room.

We have a gas furnace for main heat. Others say not, leave the damper open all night and they say that the fumes would be locked in the house when the damper is closed, which is not good for our health. What is your opinion, please?

A. Here is professional advice on the operation of fireplaces. Dampers, taken from a technical publication. Make sure the damper is wide open before lighting the fire. Many fireplaces are operated with dampers constantly open, but dampers do not have to be constantly opened and closed in order to be of great value in promoting smooth discharge of smoke and arresting the down draft. Experiment to see how much the damper opening can be cut down to save heat while discharging all the smoke. When only a bed of glowing coals remain, the damper can be brought to nearly a fully closed position.

But again, be sure to open it before refueling with a smoke-producing fuel.

Q. I have an area of about 10-by-10 feet on the front of my brick house that has been discolored by harsh chemical cleaners. Is there any dye that could be purchased to color these bricks? The original color was chocolate brown. Of course I would want a dye that would stand the weather and not color the mortar. Or would some other treatment be better, such as sandblasting? Your advice will be appreciated.

Ella R. M., Manchester, Tenn.

A. I would recommend sandblasting as I know of no practical way to restore the color to match the undamaged area without coloring the mortar. And application of the dye might give the area a completely different appearance. As the color of brick goes completely through the brick, removing the damaged surface should restore the color. You could try an electric sander and sandpaper, which might do the desired job.

Q. Can you tell us the best method for removing dried mastic tape from unfinished wall paneling? Also how do you remove fingerprint stains? Would the best thing be to paint the paneling after the mastic tape has been removed? I am afraid the fingerprint marks may show through new paint.

T.W.B.

A. You can remove the adhesive residue of the mastic tape with amyl acetate. This is the same as fingernail polish remover. If this does not remove the stain to your satisfaction, go over the area with denatured alcohol or naphtha and use the same treatment on the fingerprint marks. If the fingerprints still remain, try a solution of trisodium phosphate and warm water, rinsing well. After the area has dried, go over the surface with No. 60 sandpaper, following by rubbing with No. 100 sandpaper. If some stain still shows, you will have to paint, but the above method should prepare the surface for a clear finish.

Q. Can you suggest politics is not the prime reason for the action and occasionally dip his oar in.

But Kay suggests politics is not the prime reason for the action and occasionally dip his oar in. "All that would have taken on great significance in the past, when it was difficult to get around," he says.

Kay said the Walkers want the youngest of their seven children to be able to finish school. Griffin High School, and Margaret is a junior at Sacred Heart Academy.

Who will the regular organization Democrats want to run for governor in 1979 if Gov.-elect James Thompson fares well in his first year in office?

The timing is such that the decision will have to be made before there is any chance to extensively measure Thompson's performance.

If the primary date remains in March — and there are pending bills to make it later — candidates would have to file candidacy petitions in December, less than a year from now. To mount an effective campaign for governor, one has to begin organizing before the filing.

New officers elected at GC Trust board meeting

Ernest A. Karandjeff, chairman of the board of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, announced the election of new officers at the meeting of the board last week, following the annual stockholders' meeting.

New officers elected are Mrs. Marilyn Garin, assistant trust officer; Leonard Revelle, assistant cashier, and Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr., assistant vice-president.

Mrs. Garin has served the bank in various capacities since she joined the staff in June 1965. Revelle, who attended Arkansas University and SIU, is a member of the loan department. Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr. was formerly assistant cashier. Karandjeff received his BA in business from Illinois Wesleyan University. He also attended the American Institute of Foreign Trade, where he received a BS in international management.

In his message to stockholders, the board chairman stressed the importance of serving the community. He cited the installation of the automated teller facility which has the capacity to serve the public at any hour of the day. In addition, banking hours at drive-up windows have been extended. The bank, which formerly closed on Saturdays, is now open until noon on that day at all drive-up windows at the Delmar Quik Bank, he reported.

All department heads have been urged to continue to provide for customer needs and to seek new ways to serve. Further, all bank officers and employees have been encouraged to engage in community affairs, as they have in the past, chairman Karandjeff said.

"The focal point of all of this," Karandjeff said, is to position the bank as a service institution which responds to customer and community needs as its main reason for being. "We can only understand those needs by listening to our customers and innovating new procedures, policies, and ideas to meet those needs. Our growth has reflected this attitude. Our assets are at record levels; $55,695,000 last year. Our deposits have increased 11 percent over last year," he said. "Our bank celebrated its 66th anniversary in 1976," Karandjeff continued, "and although the facade of our building is not of recent vintage, within its walls are the most advanced electronic computer equipment and procedures. Our staff is continually attending classes at the various banking institutes to up-date their knowledge and techniques."

E.A. KARANDJEFF JR.

"We believe we have the most modern banking facilities in terms of equipment and people, of any bank in any major city in the country. We plan to continue to develop as a professional, service oriented full service bank."

As evidence of the bank's commitment to the community, $1,000,000 has been transferred from Undivided Profits to the Surplus Account, thereby increasing the ability of the bank to extend loans to its customers, Karandjeff noted.

Directors of the bank re-elected are Dale Arnette, Homer Huber, Ernest A. Karandjeff, Henry D. Karandjeff, Kiril J. Kirchoff, Carl E. Mathias, Thomas R. Remington and Milford D. Walston.

Officers re-elected are Ernest A. Karandjeff, chairman of the board, president and trust officer; Henry D. Karandjeff, honorary chairman; Allen Jessee, executive vice-president; Barry Loman, vice-president; John J. Polson, vice-president; John L. McDonald Jr., vice-president and cashier; Robert J. Hildebrand, vice-president and trust officer; Anthony J. Zedolek, vice-president; Thomas J. Killoran, assistant vice-president; Robert Dietrich, assistant vice-president; William C.
